VOL. VI. RENO. WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1878. NO. 46.

The Clothing War.

EDITOR GAZETTE: In the Journal of October 3d, I find an announcement signed L. Abrahams, of the White House. This announcement sets forth that other dealers in clothing keeps "humbug shops" and offer "unsalable goods" to the public. He also believes that these humbug dealers "lie to decieve the public." I represent, for my part of the humbuggery, Mr. Editor, I represent that when I offer "unsalable goods" I always suffer for it, and not Mr. Abrams. The people have worn my goods long enough to know better than Mr. Abrahams whether they com from a "humbug shop" or not. During my many years residence and business in Reno, I have made my own reputation and it is safe from the interested charges brought by this newcomer at the White House.

Now, whether I keep a humbug shop or not, I shall continue to sell the best goods in market and at the lowest rates. I shall SELL men and boys clothing cheaper than "Whitey" can BUY them. I shall keep more goods, and a resher stock always on hand. And all of these assertions, so far from being "lies to decieve the public" can be proven by my patrons during fair week as they have been proven any time during the past ten years.

M. NATHAN,
oct-7-tf Virginia Street.

The scarcity of diamonds, gold and silver, and the difficulties met with in securing them, is a sure indication of their value. Thus it is with a valuable medicine: Dr. Aug. Kaiser's celebrated German Pulmonic Elixir, through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way; but its opponents might as well try to change the course of the sun, sweep back the ocean with a broom, or put out a prairie fire with a tear. For the cure of Throat and Lung diseases, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchial Affections it is unequalled. Its cures are truly magical. Ask your druggists, OSBURN & SHOEMAKER, for it. The genuine bears the Prussian Coat of Arms, the fac-simile signature of Dr. Aug. Kaiser, and has his name blown on every 75-cent bottle. Trial bottle, 25 cents. au7eod

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.—I do no sell any goods 20 per cent. below cost, or even at cost, but I offer my first-class stock of clothing, furnishing goods, boots and shoes, hats and caps, trunks and valises, etc., which have been bought for cash at the lowest market rates. Therefore I wish the public to post themselves on my prices before going to the humbug shops where they are always drumming into the ear that they are selling at cost. or below cost. They either bought unsalable goods or they lie to deceive the public; they don't deserve to be patronized. Remember the One Price Store—The White House—No. 19 Commercial Row, next door to the postoffice. L. ABRAHAMS.

RENO AND SURPRISE VALLEY.—Calderwood & Kern's stages will leave Reno hereafter on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 3 o'clock A. M., and reach Bidwell, Surprise Valley, at 6 o'clock on the following days. Returning, will leave Willow Ranch at 7 A. M. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, arriving in Reno at 9 P. M. on the following days. Fare, $30 each way. Freight on baggage over 30 pounds, 8 cents per pound. Offices at Hammond & Wilson's stable, opposite Railroad depot. JOHN WILSON, Agent.

A HERO'S RETURN.

In another column will be found Dennis Kearney's farewell present of cheek and profanity on leaving the East, where he has made such a conspicuous blackguard and fool of himself. In everything he has undertaken since leaving San Francisco Dennis has failed. We all know how he predicted Butler's election, and how he ferociously promised to make the streets of Boston run with blood should the voters of Massachusetts decline to follow his orders and choose Butler for governor. Such a defeat as Butler has suffered doesn't diminish Dennis' boasting and blasphemy one bit. Neither does his ridiculous retreat from Boston, whose pavements were to be bespatterd with gore. If anyone thinks that Kearney will be more modest on his return to San Francisco, he doesn't know Dennis. If the newspapers give him the same encouragement as they did before his departure, the shallow little fraud will set San Francisco in uproar again. According to Kearney's story, to be told on the regained sand lots, we shall see that his progress through the East was one triumphal march. The foremost journals of the eastern cities give "the California aggravator" a good-bye notice, agreeing in spirit with the following excellent one from the New York Herald.

Kearney leaves fos his sunny home in the sand lots of San Francisco. We would bid him good-bye, with sincere thanks for coming East. He was heard patiently and good-naturedly, curiously, and wherever he spoke he settled the question on which he addressed the people: He decided it contrary to his own desires, of course; but that, also, was his own doing. Whatever merit may be in his cause, he ought to be convinced that American voters are not to be persuaded by oaths, nor by inflamatory appeals, nor by shameless abuse of opponents. Kearney was fully and fairly reported in the press which he was so fond of vilifying, and we must say that in this way the press revenged itself upon him. That he was heard and read by all men was his ruin. That he spoke freely and was reported fully, was the ruin of his cause. Whether he returns home, either wiser or better it is not possible to tell, but he leaves the East, having done good work in proving to all classes of our people that there is nothing in Dennis Kearney, nor in the movement of which he has made himself the head, so far as he is its true expositor, which deserves the sympathy of any decent or industrious American citizen.

TRUCKEE'S ACTION.

Sentimental journalists are weeping over the conduct of the citizens of Truckee toward the Chinese of that town. These tears are not the tears of common sense. The whites of Truckee did not care to have disease threatening their health and fire their property. They made liberal offers to buy the land in the town owned by the Mongolians and procured a good tract of land for them at a low price and at a safe distance from the town. All these fair offers were refused and, acting under advice from paid white counselors, the Chinese began rebuilding their shanties in the heart of Truckee. Finding that all other means had failed, the citizens—the best and wealthiest of them taking the lead—took down the buildings, destroying nothing, even taking care to pile the lowered lumber. There was no rage or violence and nothing approaching the mob spirit. The citizens of Truckee determined to protect themselves and their property from the danger of a Chinatown in the centre of the settlement. That the strict letter of the law has been violated, no one denies. It frequently happens, in courts as well as communities, that the strict letter has to be overlooked in order to reach the spirit of the law, which is justice.

Pondering on the Chinese, the philosopher of the Sacramento Bee thus muses aloud:

However much we may deplore their presence among us we cannot but admit that, as a nation, they are a wonderful class of men.

True. Wonderfully dirty, wonderfully mean, wonderfully immoral and nasty, wonderfully theivish, wonderfully fond of chickens, wonderfully capable of ruining the country and wonderfully productive of white demagogues.

HONORS TO AN AMERICAN.

Col. W. Milnor Roberts of Pittsburg, Pa., president of the American society of civil engineers has been appointed by Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil, engineer-in-chief of the improvements of the water highways of that country, at a salary of $60,000 for three years, or if the work is sooner done, $25,000 per year. Col. Roberts is one of the most eminent and distinguished engineers in the United States. In addition to the honors conferred on him in his own country he is a member of the royal institute of C. E. of Great Britian. He is still chief engineer of the Northern Pacific railroad which bears the impress of his master mind on every mile. He was the choice of the government for the joint commission of inspection for Niagara falls bridge, and wrote the able report returned; was one year in charge of the building of the St. Louis bridge. While Captain Eads was ill in Europe he was engineer of the government improvements on the Ohio River. He was a member of the board who designed the Keokuk bridge over the Mississippi and of the commission of 1874 that reported in favor of the jetty system at the mouth of the Mississippi, which have since been so successful and many other important works of every kind. Col. Roberts will add new lustre to his own high reputation as well as to the already brilliant renown of American engineers.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The editor of the Sacramento Bee marvels that some of the newspaper men who sat down at the table in Virginia the other evening with Senator Jones, could do so after having viciously abused one another during the late political campaign. There is really nothing strange about this. Even when not excited by politics we describe the Bee man as a dunderhead and a narrow-minded blotch on the back of liberal journalism, yet we would not have the slightest objection to eating at the same table with him, if we were very hungry.

Says the New York Sun: Paradise, Nevada, is not to political candidates all that its name implies. Two men who were running for office went there and made speeches, after which they lodged in the only hotel. In the morning they found that all their clothing except the shirts that they had kept on their backs, had been jocosely taken by the miners and pawned for whiskey. Of course, any show of resentment would have been injudicious.

Once more outsiders have been taught to their cost that the condition of a mine has mighty little to do with the price of the stock. Read this dispatch sent to San Francisco from Virginia City yesterday, when holders of Sierra Nevada were being hopelessly ruined:

VIRGINIA CITY, Nov. 20.

To CROWLEY & GOODMAN: Have just come out of the Sierra Nevada. The mine is all I was ever reported to be. It never looked or promised better. The formation is regular and the ore rich. J. P. JONES.

Henceforth no first-class stock operator should be without a balloon among his personal effects. When the market goes down suddenly the operator will find it convenient to shoot up above the clouds with corresponding rapidity and stay there for a few days. From that position calmness in addressing the mob will be safe and easy.

The magnifying power of time and distance is beautifully shown in this extract from the New York Sun:

Tar and feathers have been used very freely in Reno, Nevada, five offenders having been coated within a few months. The last of these outrages is supposed to have been followed by murder, as the victim has been missing since he was in the hands of the mob.

The young editorial philosopher of the San Francisco Post thus bitterly complains:

The fellows who stand around the theatres on matinee days gazing at the pretty girls as they come out, are as much to be pitied as the poor wretches who have to satisfy their hunger by smelling other people's savory dishes.

A snow-shoe rabbit is at the Smithsonian institute. It was caught in the snowy pine range, at the head of the Yellowstone river. It differs from the other rabbits in its feet, which are broad as a man's hand. They are natural snow shoes, enabling the animal to elude its pursuers.

What effect would the hanging of Skae have upon the price of Sierra Nevada stock? Is the experiment worth trying? Mr. Skae's opinion on the point would be of some interest.

Lynching is a new element in stock gambling which will make the game vastly more interesting to those who are likely to become the lynchees.

The Yellow Fever Commission.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The report of the yellow fever commission, composed of Drs. Bemis, Cochran and Howard, and Col. T. S. Hardee, sanitary engineer, made to the health association convention in session at Richmond, gives results of investigations in all the fever-stricken cities of the South. They believe the disease was imported to New Orleans, and show by maps that the fever cases invariably form in groups, unlike malarial fever, which shows a tendency to occur in disconnected cases:

They conclude: First—Not a solitary instance was found of a case of yellow fever which we could justifiably consider as indigenous to its locality. Second—In most of the various towns visited, which were points of epidemic prevalence, the testimony showing importation was direct and convincing in its character. Third — The transmission of yellow fever between points separated by any considerable distance appeared to be wholly due to human intercourse. In certain instances the poison was carried in the clothes or about the person of people going from the infected districts. In other instances it was conveyed in cotton bagging, or other goods of the same description. Fourth—The weight of testimony is very pronounced against the further use of disinfectants. Physicians in the infected towns almost without exception state that they are useless agents to arrest the spread of yellow fever. Fifth—Personal prophyloxis by means of drugs or other thereapeutic means, has proved a constant failure. A respectable number of physicians think the use of small doses of quinine of some use in prevention. Sixth—Quarantine, established with such a degree of vigor that absolute non-intercourse is the result, has effectually and without exception, protected subjects from the attacks of yellow fever.

Heavy Suit Against the Tybo Consolidated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Henry Schwartz has brought suit against Daniel Meyer et al in the fourth district court, for an accounting for all moneys, gains and profits of the Tybo consolidated mining company, to have a certain contract for coal decreed fraudulent and void, and to recover damages in the sum of $1,000,000. It is also prayed that the defendants, who are trustees of the corporation, be removed from office and a reciever appointed to take charge of the property.

A Grand Career.

[Burlington Hawkeye.]

Three years ago a young man graduated from the West Point military academy and came West. His soul was filled with grand, lofty aspirations, and he sought, in the untrodden fields of activity in the mighty West, room for his soaring genius to plume itself for fight. He braced his feet as he prepared to shake the globe. To-day he is the traveling agent for a Cincinnati corset factory.

Wages Trouble in England.

LONDON, Nov. 20. — The cleveland mine owers have ordered ten per cent. reduction of wages. The proprietors of the Oldham cotton mills have refused to postpone for three months the ten per cent. reduction, and the Clyde ship builders threaten to lock-out unless the men agree to work for less wages.

Russia's Reluctance.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—Russia is making great efforts to obtain an extension of the term of occupation of Turkey, but all the powers oppose it. Prince Orloff's visit to Welsbaden is thought to be connected with the efforts of Russia to enlist the aid of Germany in favor of the prolongation of Russian occupation.

BOULD DINNIS

Starts for California With Blasphemy and Brag.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Herald's Boston special says: Kearney left for San Francisco at 6 o'clock this evening, accompanied by his wife, brother and two children. Two causes led to his departure—the opinions expressed by Democrats who follow Butler against his meddling in the municipal fight, and the sudden appearance of dissension in the Workingmen's party in San Francisco. He recently received a long letter from San Francisco, announcing that certain men in the labor movement have been taking advantage of his absence to undermine his power, and that there was danger of a serious revolt. He was advised to come home at once, and so he decided to give up the fight in Boston and save his prestige and power in California, if possible. He seemed dejected, nervous and tired. On being interviewed he declined to talk of Butler, merely saying that he was the only available candidate the Workingmen could find. He said he was coming back after the next election in California. "By the way," he said, "you may put it down that the next governor of California will be a farmer." He intimated that he could have an office himself if he chose to accept it, but he wanted to keep out of politics, so that if he found a man going back on the people he could cut him down. "When I come back," he said, "I will settle up some old scores. I will drive the slimy thieves who opposed me into the northeast corner of hell, where I will pin them and make them wiggle—wiggle until the Lord God Almighty sets up his throne on earth and calls upon every d—d cuss of them to pass in his checks. They have opposed me because, like Jesus Christ, I went among the people doing good and preaching the doctrine of salvation. I will have a reception in California bigger than Columbia did when he landed." He then said: I'll tell you how Butler was defeated. He was beaten by the men who had charge of his affairs. Every whiskey guzzler and ward bummer in the state was working for him, and the decent, hard working men were disgusted."

The Nez Perces.

[S. F. Bulletin, Wednesday.]

J. B. Monteath, agent of the Nez Perces Indian reservation, arrived in this city by the steamer Oregon yesterday. He has in his charge twelve prisoners, who were captured on returning to their reservation after flying with White Bird to Sitting Bull's camp. They were placed in confinement at Alcatraz, where they will remain till the arrival of six more coming on the Idaho, due here on Saturday or Sunday, when all will be conveyed to Port Shaw reservation, where Joseph is. Mr. Monteath is also accompanied by three Indian teachers, named Mark Williams, Archie Sawyer and James Reubens. They are employed by the government to instruct their brethren in reading, writing and agriculture. The teachers are fine athletic men, brought up among Chief Joseph's tribe. They have all received fair educations in the ordinary English branches.

A Fellow of Nerve.

ROME, Nov. 50th. — Passante, the would-be assassin of King Hubert, manifested the most perfect unconcern and brutal assurance at his preliminary examination. When the magistrate expressed horror at his deed, prisoner said: "It seems to me you are getting too excited." On being asked if he had not observed that the people would have torn him to peices but for the police, he replied: "The people are fools; they always act that way." To a question whether he had intended to kill the King or merely wound him, he answered: "My intention was to finish him." He was neither an Internationalist nor Socialist, and said that he did not know the meaning of those words. He failed, however, to satisfactorily account for the Internationalist work found in his possession.

A Horrible Scandal.

SAN BUENAVENTURA, Cal., Nov. 20. —A mixed and somewhat nasty case is now occupying the attention of the committing magistrate of Santa Paula, in this county. It appears that a few months ago A. H. Sheppard, the postmaster, married Miss Blumberg, a niece of Robert Van Curen, and soon after the latter married Sheppard's sister. In three or four months Mrs. Sheppard gave birth to a child, which is alleged to be the offspring of her uncle, Vancuren. The latter asserts the girl's father, A. W. Blumberg, to be the seducer of his own daughter. The net result is that Sheppard has brought suit for divorce, and Blumberg has had Vancuren arrested for incest. The examination was commenced this morning, and will probably occupy two or three days.

Dying for His Family's Good.

NEW YORK, November 20.—The life insurance companies are considerably excited by the death at Binghampton on Saturday last of Colonel Walton Dwight, who, within three months previous, had succeeded in getting policies in favor of his wife and son, amounting to $253,605, and paid about $2200 for premiums since he was financially embarrassed, and it is thought could have raised only with the greatest difficulty the $3000 to meet the premiums due on the next quarter. It is the theory in some insurance offices that Dwight intended to be a dead man before another premium was due.

British India.

BOMBAY, Nov. 20.—The Gazette announces that several regiments have been warned to hold themselves in readiness to advance from Quettah immediately, and that all is ready. Merchants from central Asia say that no indications of a movement of Russians towards Afghanistan are observable.

STATE NEWS.

The White Pine News has suspended publication.

Steps are being taken for the organization of a military company in Winnemucca.

C. C. Goodwin, of the Virginia Enterprise, has gone to Oregon for a few weeks' recreation.

Hay is being brought in pretty freely to Austin from Reese River valley, and is selling at $30 per ton.

Two of the prisoners who escaped from the Winnemucca jail on Tuesday evening have been recaptured at the Humboldt house.

Thomas Flynn, the convict who killed Bethards, has been since the murder confined in a dark underground dungeon in the state prison at Carson.

The state in the vicinity of Winnemucca, Tuscarora and Elko, is said to be flooded with counterfeit silver coin, the production of a gang of counterfeiters in Idaho.

The Democrats will have but five members in the state assembly and seven in the senate, of whom six are holdovers. They elected but one senator at the recent election—Shepherd of Elko.

The vestibule of the Carson mint is crowded with standard silver dollars, packed in boxes, awaiting shipment to several United States sub-treasury offices on the Atlantic seaboard.

On Sunday, the 10th instant, another cave occurred in the Meadow Valley mine, whereby a miner named Collins was confined under a pile of dirt for two hours before he was finally rescued.

An average of 500 cords of wood is consumed each month at the Silver Hill mine. The wood costs $9 per cord. The cost of the wood consumed at that mine is therefore not less than $54,000 per year.

Terrible Suffering in Sheffield.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Appalling distress and destitution exists among the mechanics and laborers of Sheffield in consequence of business depression. Hundreds exist in a tenement without clothing or furniture, which has been sold or pawned to procure food. They are without fuel and depend on the charity of neighbors. The mayor has called a public meeting to devise measures of relief.

A Saloon Keeper Killed.

OAKDALE, Cal., Nov. 20.—E. L. Davis, a saloon keeper, was shot in the right eye by James Scroggins in Davis' saloon about 1 o'clock this morning. There are no hopes of his recovery.

JOTTINGS.

—Five cent pieces are coming into circulation.

—There are twelve patients at the county hospital.

—Senator Jones and wife passed through for San Francisco last evening.

—"Why is that man so wildly chargin'?"
Inquires a wight of scanty education.
"To borrow mud to save his margin,"
Replied ten men with grinning exultation.

—William McPherson, of Wadsworth, is among us, looking healthy and happy.

—Conversation of the future: "Stocks are down again." "That so? Who's hanged?"

—The legislators elect are pestered to death by applications for their influence to secure clerkships in the assembly.

—The telegraph office was besieged last evening by persons who wanted to hear all about the hanging of Skae and Mackey.

—R. P. Ferguson (Old Ice Hooks and Sich) was in Reno this morning displaying his fashionable figure on the boulevard.

—This is beautiful weather for driving, and the ladies are taking advantage of it. There is now little or no mud on the roads.

—There is only a week now left us in which to get our prayers in proper shape and to cultivate our appetites for thanksgiving day.

—It being now too cold to sit out on the porch and to swing on the gate the less satisfactory but still joyous season of dancing parties is about to waltz in.

—The Indian boys have found a new amusement—the building of mud locomotives. Some of the imitations show considerable cleverness in a rough way.

—Constable Barlow is as sound as any of us now. The only thing he has to show for being shot is a bit of sticking plaster on his chin about the size of a short bit.

—There will be a called meeting of Reno lodge No. 13 F. & A. M., for work in the first degree, on Saturday evening, November 23d. Brethren and visiting brethren are cordially invited to attend.

—There is a pleasing rumor that Deacon Parkinson is coming down to Reno to-morrow or next day, and much pleasant excitement prevails in social circles. The churches are being decorated with evergreens.

A Remarkable Instance.

The benefits of advertising in the GAZETTE have once more been strikingly shown. Last evening a gentleman brought to the office a large jet ear-ring which he had found and orderd an advertisement of the fact to be inserted in the 50-cent column of this widely circulated journal. One of the lady compositors began setting up the ad. this morning and suddenly gave a little squeak of delight. It was her ear-ring! Thus even before an advertisement (paid for in advance) appears in the GAZETTE it is almost sure to satisfy the object of the advertiser.

A GENEROUS PARTNER.

He Forgives the Loss of a Winter's Maintenance.

"Have you seen my pardner?" asked an excited man on Virginia street this forenoon of every other person he met. The man was red with rage and the gleam of battle shot from his eye. Another man came along with his hat on the back of his head and his hair down on his forehead. His face was pale his eyes inflamed and his step unsteady. The first darted at him, seized his arm, shook him vindictively and bawled:

"So here ye are,eh?"

"Ullo Jim," said the captured one waking up and running his hand across his eyes.

"Don't Jim me, blast ye!" roared the other, "I know what ye've been at. Drinkin' an' gamblin' agin, I'll bet. I knowed you would, torment ye fur the dernedest fool in Nevaydey. How much did ye lose?"

"Cleaned out slick," admitted the culprit, hanging his head and spitting in confusion.

"Cleaned out!" screamed Jim, "Cleaned out! Now what in blazes am I a-going to do this winter? Gen'lemen," he said turning to the crowd, "I was sick in Arizona, when I took up with this feller for a pardner, I hadn't no money an' he stood by me and it made me sort o' grateful, fur I'm one o' the soft hearted kind. Well gen'lmen we hoofed it together all the way to Reno living together like brothers. He got work here an' I couldn't git none an' he's been the only thing between me an' starvation sence we came here. An' now what does he go an' do with his first month's wages? Drinks an' gambles 'em by G—! What am I goin' to do this winter, ye bloody villian?" he cried, seizing the wasteful wretch with both hands this time.

"Dern it, Jim, ole man," he whined, ready to cry, "Don't be too rough on a feller. I'm no 'count I 'low an' ye had ought to belt the stuffin' outen me, but don't you feel skeery. I kin rastle yer hash if I hev to go with nothin' under my own belt, ye can bet yer boots on that."

"Well if you gimme yer word on that," said James, softening considerably, "dern my hide if I don't stick by ye. Gimme yer hand, Bob. I don't go back on no old pard. Shake; wy, dammit, I know how it is with whiskey an' keerds. I've been one o' boys myself."

They shook hands, and Bob, overcome at the generosity of Jim, shed grateful tears as he led the way to a saloon.

TRUCKEE'S TROUBLE.

The Present Situation of Affairs—War Threatened

[Special GAZETTE Correspondence.]

TRUCKEE, Cal., Nov. 21.—The Chinese excitement has suffered a relapse pending the action of the Mongols in relation to the notice given them by the committee to move across the river on or before Saturday next. They swear they will have their throats cut before they will go, and make loud displays of Henry rifles, revolvers, etc., which they promise to use in case of a forcible ejectment. The best informed citizens regard their threats as idle, and entertain no fears at all of any bloodshed. A committee of 12 of the best men of the town have charge of matters, and the whole white population is in accord with them. A lot of ground has been purchased, sufficient for the purpose, but so far only one Chinaman has gone upon it. He sold his ground on the old site for $500 to the committee and has built him a shanty on the new one, thus incurring the enmity of his tribe. Parties have built several houses next to his to rent, but John scorns them and sleeps three deep in the wash houses along the bank of the river. Those who began rebuilding on their lots were stopped last Saturday, their houses torn down, and the lumber neatly piled up. The only houses left are a brick owned by Fong Lee, which the rascally beggar modestly places at $40,000 when the committee proposes to buy, and four or five wash houses partly scattered along the river and partly on the hill back of town. They have secret advisers who are making them very troublesome, for whom Truckee would become very warm if the people knew them. McGlashan & Crowley refused a thousand dollars for their services as attorneys.

The Pacific Lumber Company is considering the scheme of extending their railroad to Hot Springs, on Lake Tahoe. It would then be 12 or 15 miles long and carry all the freight and passengers between the C. P. road and the lake.

An Intellectual Sport.

The noble game of "Duck on the rock" is superseding top and marbles among the boys. Duck on the rock consists in a cobble as a rock and one lad has to put it in place when it is knocked off by any of the players, who stand at a mark about 20 feet away and throw cobbles at the "duck." The trick is to grab up one's rock and get back to the mark for another shy at the duck without being touched by the unfortunate who is "it."

Shot Dead in a Court-House.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 19.—Warren Tate shot and killed William Love in the court-house late this afternoon. Love had been a witness in a case wherein Tate is plaintiff. Love was a prominent real estate dealer and Tate is of a fine family, but is best known as the husband of a former notorious courtezan, now of Chicago.

CRAZY COMSTOCKERS.

Much Cooler To-day—No Danger of a Lynching Match.

By all accounts they must have had a particularly lively time in Virginia last night. Almost everybody on the Comstock hates a bear far more ardently than he does the devil, and his conception of heaven is, that it is one eternal booming market. The general smash of yesterday greatly excited and exasperated everybody and about 5 o'clock a big crowd had gathered on C street. Of course the names of Skae and Mackey, who were supposed to be at the bottom of the disaster, were execrated and when some turbulent fellows proposed that they should be hunted up and lynched, the idea was taken up readily and it looked for a time as if the necks of those millionaires were in danger and that a riot was upon the carpet. Efforts were at once made to quell this madness and Senator Jones succeeded in getting the ferocious crowd to listen to him. He announced that Skae would admit to the Sierra Nevada mine any five men they might name and they could thus satisfy themselves that the condition of the mine had not been misrepresented. This had a good effect, for the proposition was reasonable enough to wedge its way through the thickest skull. Judge Lynch took a back seat at once. The committee was appointed and reported as others had done before them, that the mine was all right.

To-day the reports from the Comstock are to the effect that everything is quiet, there being no excitement, no wild talk. A lot of miners, experts and other persons have been admitted to the mine by Skae, who under the circumstances is naturally inclined to be accommodating. Everybody who goes into the mine apparently comes out satisfied with what they have seen and as it is not probable that everybody will lie, the Comstocker to-day is doubtless ceasing to mourn his lost margin and devoting himself to thinking how he can raise the wind to invest again. The friends of Messrs. Mackey and Skae will, therefore, be pleased to learn that there is no immediate danger of their being scragged.

A Poker Parallel.

"The first man that deals me a poor hand and lets me bet and gets away with the pot, had better look out," remarked a poker player last night in a Commercial Row saloon.

The other three men looked up in surprise.

"Because," explained the bold one, "I'll punch his head."

"We're all liable to get poor hands and be cinched in this game," said his vis-a-vis.

"I knew that, but I'm a man of family and earn my money hard and I can't afford to lose. I'm going in for the style of them Virginia fellows who want to hang Mackey and Skae."

Then a broad grin spread itself over the four faces and the barkeeper was soon four bits richer.

The Death of Hollan.

The testimony taken by the coroner yesterday in the case of Michael Hollan, who was killed by falling down the shaft of the Emma mine was in accordance with the facts given in the GAZETTE last evening. Carelessness on the poor fellow's own part in fastening the bucket to the cable was the cause of the frightful and fatal fall. The two brothers of the deceased took the remains to Virginia city this morning. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

Gone to Virginia.

E. W. Hayden, who has superintended the job department of the GAZETTE office for over two years and a half, has left Reno and gone to Virginia city to remain there permanently. Mr. Hayden is a pleasant gentleman and a thorough printer. The GAZETTE wishes him prosperity in his new home.

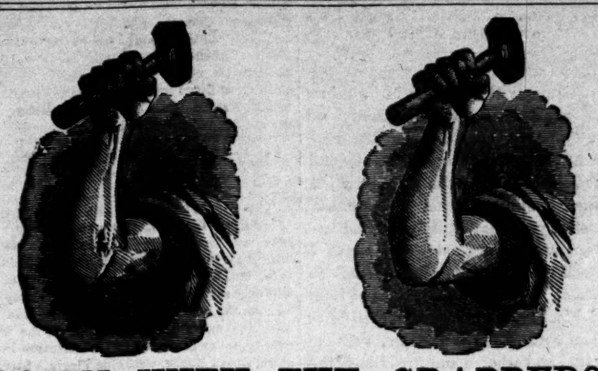
MECHANICS' STORE.



DOWN WITH THE GRABBERS

NO MORE SWINDLING!

NO MORE CHEATING!

NO MORE EXTORTION

It now lies within the reach of every hard-working Farmer, Miner and Mechanic to obtain his necessities at their realvalue, and quit enriching the grabbing and unscrupulous Store-keepers who do not hesitate to take the last penny from a hard-working man, woman or child.

THE MECHANICS' STORE

Whose reputation for straightforwardness and square dealing is known far and wide, and needs no further comment, employs an army of clerks for the sole purpose of filling COUNTRY ORDERS, and thousands living outside of Sacramento avail themselves of this chance, do all their buying by sending orders direct to the Mechanies' Store, and thereby avoid paying enormous prices to the merciless grabbers who infest every city and town on the coast.

The method upon which the Mechanics' Store is conducted is universally known; yet, for the benefit of some who may not know, we will here repeat it. It is as follows: Every article in the house is bought at the lowest market rates, to which only a small profit is added. The price once fixed is marked in plain figures on every article, and in never deviated from, thus giving the poor judge of goods a chance to suyply his wants as low as the most expert buyer.

Nothing Is Misrepresented! No Faults are Concealed!

All are treated alike—a person living 500 miles away sending an order obtains the goods at precisely the same prices as customers who are present to select for themselves. All goods are cheerfully exchanged, and in cases where nothing suitable can be found the money will be willingly refunded.

OUR FALL STOCK

Is rapidly coming in, and will shortly be complete in all departments, which consists of Men's and Boys' Clothing, Dry and Dress Goods, Fancy Goods, Notions, Men's Furnishing Goods, Hats and Caps, Millinery, Boots and Shoes, Trunks, and Valises, Chromos, Pictures and Frames.

Strictly One Price. Prices Marked on Goods in Plain Figures.

FELLOW'S

COMPOUND SYRUP OF

HYPOPHOSPHITES.

THIS DISCOVERY

Is the result of a series of Scientific Experiments based upon the theory that "for the successful cure of Wasting Diseases, the nervous system must be made vigorous and healthy."

One of the first symptoms of disease affecting either the Liver, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, or Genital Organs, is a loss of nervous power. This is followed by muscular relaxation, weakness, and emaciation of all the organs which depend upon them for health or involuntary muscular action, the weaker suffering first.

The Inventor, acting upon this idea, that the muscles and nerves depend upon each other for efficient strength and action, and that they must be treated directly in order to speedily and permanently cure diseases of the organs which they control, became convinced, after months of experiment, that no other preparation produced such potent and direct effects upon the nervous system as his

Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites,

and except in cases of actual organic loss, that it would restore patients suffering from those maladies.

Amongst the diseases overcome by the use of this remedy are the following:—

Chronic Constipation,
Chronic Dyspepsia,
Asthma,
Chronic Bronchitis,
Consumption,
Chronic Diarrhœa,
Chronic Laryngitis,
Melancholy,
Nervous Debility.

Debility, resulting from Typhoid and other low fevers, Diphtheritic Prostration, Hysteria, Hypochondria, Nervous Excitability, Marasmus or Wasting of the Muscles, Aphonia or Loss of Voice, Sluggishness of the Liver, Interrupted and Feeble Action of the Heart, SUFFOCATING FEELINGS caused by mucous obstruction of the Lungs and Air Passages leading thereto, and Debility from various causes.

Indigestiveness and habitual Costiveness almost always arise from weakness of the muscles and nerves of the stomach and bowels. In such cases, Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites has proved itself of the greatest service by inducing healthy peristaltic action of the intestines. The evacuations soon become copious and healthy, without producing the effect of purgative medicine.

Weakness of the JOINTS and MUSCLES, IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD, and INWARD WASTINGS may be cured by attention to the regular described doses, and by due regard to the habits of life.

FELLOWS'

Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites

The power of arresting diseases displayed by this preparation is honorably acknowledged by the medical faculty in every section where it has been introduced, and the large sale is the best guarantee of the estimation in which it is held by the public

This syrup will cure PULMONARY CONSUMPTION in the first and second stages, will give great relief and prolong life in the third. It will cure ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, LARYNGITIS and COUGHS. It will cure all diseases originating from want of MUSCULAR ACTION and NERVOUS FORCE.

VOL. 2. RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1878. NO. 33

IRRIGATION.

As Washoe county increases in wealth and the belt of ranches widens, the sagebrush disappears and this become essentially an irrigated region. The extent of our tillable land increases yearly and accurately measures the prosperity and permanency of the town and county. Lands that were valueless one year ago are to-day bearing crops. The sagebrush is giving way slowly but surely in every valley and is invariably followed by the irrigating ditch. So rapid, indeed, has been this transformation from desert land to harvest field that the acres reclaimed now amounts to hundreds of thousands, and the newcomer, satisfied of the value, is going farther out and projecting larger schemes of irrigation. Some of these already in progress are assured of success, while others are to furnish work years yet to come. Concerning one of these last named a correspondent of the Record Union gives the follow particulars.

The Washoe Land and water company proposes to construct an irrigating ditch 18 feet wide and 5 feet deep from the Truckee river at Camp 25 station to a point in Prosser valley three miles north of Reno, at a hight sufficient to cover Spanish springs, Warm springs, Winnemucca and Cottonwood valleys. The line, as surveyed by P. C. Uren, of Dutch Flat, Cal. is very favorable indeed. It leaves the river at low-water mark—which renders a dam unecessary—and strikes it once into a level, bowldery ground, which extends with few interruptions the entire thirty miles. There is next to no rock work and no sidehill work to speak of except in two places, one of half a mile in length just north of Reno, the other on the two sides of a rocky canyon about the middle of the route, which will be avoided by an inverted siphon or a flume 600 feet long and 75 high. The survey strikes across the flat at Crystal Peak and bends with the river, there being a little north of east, cutting across at the butt ends of a series of points which Mr. Uren speaks of in his report. Thus, at station 1190, which is near the end of the survey in Prosser valey, we cross a low gap in the mountains, one mile west another, and continue to strike other gaps which save the line from a system of continous spurs, the peculiarity of which is that they swell out and are higher next the river than at the base, Mr. Uren, who is a man of large experience, having engineered the Blue Tent ditch, the Iowa Hill canal, the Forest Hill ditch, and others in Placer, Nevada and Shasta counties, estimates the cost of the work at $200,000, figuring the cost to remove the best earth at 20 conts per cubic yard, and harder earth, loose and fixed rock, fluming, etc., in proportion. The line will be improved by further study.

The magnitude of the scheme is shown above, but much more space would be required in telling of the great advantages which be would secured to this section through the construction of this canal. With the prosperous farmer we always find profitable business, growing towns and thrifty merchants. With irrigation the sagebrush lands of Nevada will ensure a crop every year, and with all the available land in this county yielding its crops of alfalfa. Washoe would be the great cattle market of the West. There is a sure return for all investments which seek to carry water out to the thirsty deserts, and there is a further certainty that every available acre will before long be shorn of its sage and devoted to its legitimate use. There is an immense field for capital in the reclamation of Nevada's sagebrush lands, and a large return will follow each venture. We look for the day when this state will have a perfect system of irrigation, and those who venture first will reap the largest reward. The wealth of Washoe county at least is in the water which falls upon her mountains and when lead down into the valleys makes harvest fields from desert plains and happy homes for prosperous men.

We learn from the Post that C. C. Batterman and wife, have transferred to H. G. Blasdel, 2156 acres near San Antonio, Alameda county, for $12,000.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Gortschakoff will be very much pleased when he gets the last number of the Belmont Courier. That paper gives the European squabble away after this fashion:

Our opinion on the subject is the same as it was on the Turkish question. Russia will probably do all she can in an ambiguous and ambi-dexterous manner to embarrass Great Britain, both in Turkey and Afghanistan; but that she will go to the length of actual war is unlikely; that is, unless England were assailed by some other powerful state, or that Russia could secure the aid of a power that would keep Austria in check while she was enveloping her eastern and southeastern boundaries with a collection Sclav states, which would be to the Austro-Hungarian empire a perpetual menace and a source of endless complications.

With this key in his hands, the cipher of European diplomacy will be no longer ambi-dexterous to Gortschakoff.

These are hard times, and the San Francisco Post is trying to cut down expenses. For this pup a school girl has been hired to squib editorially. Here is what siss says:

Because a man lives at Red Bluff he need not be a bully, nor profane though he hails from Yuba Dam.

In the columns of an amateur, edited by boys under ten, that beautiful sentiment would not be noticed. In the columns of the Post, however, such a brilliant sally is always remarkable

---

Rev. Mr. Talmage is credited in a New York paper as saying in a recent discourse on popular sins: "There are one million men and women in the United States to-day reading themselves into hell," and the Eureka Leader admits that similar but less sweeping denunciations of the current literature of the day are heard from many pulpits and rostrums of the country.

An exchange says:

General Sherman sat in a box in a Chicago theatre during a burlesque performance. He applauded the singing of an actress in tights, whereupon she threw him a kiss. He seemed to resent her impudence.

The forward huzzy; men are not safe even in the theatres now-a-days.

The papers have found out that the new election law, which provides for a recount when the majority is not greater than three, makes no provision for ties. The press wants the law modified at the next session of our legislature.

The Post man says: There is far too great laxity of moral perception in the direction of fiduciary trusts; also too great laxity of moral perception in the direction of certain petty rules governing the Queen's English. Think of it dear.

The tramps of San Francisco will be provided for if the public spirit does not fail of its object. Another fountain, like Lotta's, of pure water will soon grace Kearny street. The tramps should club together now and start a free bakery.

The Sentinel believes that Tilden and Hendricks will be the Democratic best hold in 1880. Tilden and Hendricks will do them as well as anybody, for the party will have no further use for its candidates after election.

H. C. Marker, brother of P. N. Marker, an old Washoeite, is reported as one of the commissioners elect in Humboldt. If Hans is anything like the Washoe county Marker we hope the intelligence may prove true.

The firm of Mc Intosh & Winders late publishers of the Dutch Flat Forum has been dissolved, the former gentleman retiring.

The season of scarlet fever, election whoops an coughs is approaching. In Eureka the former disease prevails.

One of our interior exchanges thinks that Beecher is becoming mad or else a great rogue. The ground for this sweeping assertion is named in Beecher's belief that "the ten commandments belong to the barbaric age." Our interior oracle thinks that since Beecher has transgressed one of the great laws he finds it profitable to combat the whole ten. We suggest, with fear and trembling, that the commentator aforesaid having violated the entire decalogue finds himself defending their essence merely for the sake of posterity. And that is the salient point of difference between this blithe scribbler and the man Beecher.

The papers are begining to doubt the popularity of stump speaking and the Silver State says:

The returns show that candidates who took an active part in the campaign as public speakers, almost invariably run behind their tickets in the towns where they addressed public meetings. Kitrell, who was probably she most eloquent and aggressive speaker in the campaign, is the worst beaten man on the ticket. The same is true of Mighels, who spoke in every town of any importance in the state, and received less votes than anybody on his ticket, except perhaps Hammond, who also stumped the state, while their opponents, Adams and Sessions, remained at home, and, according to the returns so far received, were elected.

The Ward clubs of San Francisco, are calling upon Dennis to come back, and in response to the impassioned appeals of the GAZETTE, the hero is inclining homeward. One more petition will fetch him, and here goes: "Lave the Aist, Dinnis, sure ther's no hope there amongst the festherin' bond-houlders. The moon-eyed lepers are buying dhrays, an' wan' av thim made a spache in Thruckee, just loike yer own sweet self. Come back, Dinny, an' give us the midnight skay wance mure.

During the month of October the Central Pacific railroad carried 3765 through passengers bound west, and 2400 bound east, making a total of 6165, and a net gain to the coast of 3165. During the same month there were 865 arrivals by sea and 1750 departures. The arrivals from China numbered 537, and the departures 1365.

The Hotchkiss revolving cannon, invented by B. B. Hotchkiss, of Sharon, and having five barrels, was exhibited at Bridgeport, Conn., recently and fired about eighty shots a minute. It carries its projectiles about three miles, and several of the guns are to be used in fighting the Indians. We are ready now to enlist in the Indian service.

We note this as the first instance of accommodation in time by a railway:

Eleven men were waiting for a railroad train in Franklin, Tenn. A negro was caught in a serious crime close by the station. The eleven men chased him a mile, caught him, hanged him, and returned to the station, where the train had been kept waiting for them.

The electric fluid tells us that the Glasgow bank directors have been refused bail. Scotch defaulters and the cattle embezzlers of the Highlands are informed that America offers a home to the oppressed of all nations.

Telegrams from Italy inform the Gold Hill News that its pet, the Tiber, has overflowed its banks and inundated the city. It is supposed that Austin will be compelled to editorially condemn the Tiber.

A Boston child was at the point of death from water on the chest. Its parents would not consent to a surgical operation, although told that nothing else could save his life. The physician got a priest and several nuns to interfere, but their arguments had no effect. At length the society for the prevention of cruelty to children took forcible possession of the little patient, who was then cured by the physician.

BULLDOSED AGAIN.

In this era of good-feeling and harmony, we have no political excitement in the North, save that which is caused by the fall or rise of some Tammany leader, or the contortions of some anxious Democrat. The methods employed in bulldosing Republicanism south of Mason & Dixon's line are still interesting, however, and the good people of that region seem intent on keeping the matter before the public. Each year they offer new illustrations, and each election they invent some new plans. The S. F. Alta tells of the latest experiment in this line as follows.

The reports of most outrageous election frauds at the South continues to burthen the wires and occupy the press. Even the journals of the South, some of them, are forced to confess to the rascalities committed, and even to condemn some of them. One of the late reports is to the effect that in the third Georgia district, the candidate, Wade, who had received a majority of three thousand votes, has been counted out, enough votes has been thrown out to leave his competitor a majority. In Florida, the Republican candidate, Bisbee, was elected by a very handsome majority. But the returning board threw out votes by the hundred, until they reduced his majority to a minority. And their reason for doing this was that a United States Marshal had said, just before election that, if necessary, he would appoint a million of deputies, and not one of them should be a Democrat. Is that a valid reason for depriving citizens of their rights of suffrage?

It is to the credit of some of the Georgia and Florida journals that they not only express surprise at the latest reports, but virtually condemn the methods by which such results were reached. That Florida returning board deserves condemnation by the people of the South, themselves, for the reason they give for their action is a disgrace to themselves and an insult to the Southern people. It is, that the reported threat of the U. S. Marshal to appoint, if necessary, a million deputies, and that not one of them should be a Democrat, had he the effect of so frightening the Democratic voters that many of them did not dare go to the polls. That is an accusation which, in defense of Southern men, we take upon ourselves to deny. No honest voter would have any reason to fear the presence of any number of deputies or Marshals, and no such cause kept any man from the polls. The plea was made to cover up a rascality which the house should condemn.

It remains to be seen now what steps President Hayes and his cabinet will take in ordr that American citizenship may be vindicated. If he remains conciliatory it is time that we recognize states rights and the right of secession.

WOMANS' RIGHTS.

The question of woman suffrage is now agitating the constitutional convention at Sacramento and the Record-Union has this to say regarding it:

"The committee on suffrage have reported in favor of removing the restriction upon the suffrage on account of sex. We do not think the convention is likely to favor woman suffrage, or even to leave the question to the legislature, but we are satisfied that the logic is all on the side of the advocates of female enfranchisement, and we believe in consistency so firmly that we should like to see the issue fairly tested by experiment. There are no arguments possible against woman suffrage. The opposition to it is based upon educational bias, and the possession of political power by the sex which has the decision of the question in its hands. Women are refused the suffrage principally because it is perfectly safe to refuse them, but they have as sound a right to it as men can show, and some women possess much better right than some men. We think the convention could afford to leave the question open. The community has not yet grown up to it fully, but opinion upon such opinions is rapidly becoming more enlightened, and it is quite conceivable that five or ten years hence the majority may be in favor of it.

John S. Mayhugh, of Elko, is favorably mentioned for speaker of the assembly.

The polygamous women of Salt-Lake have been resolving in opposition to their Gentile neighbors. They want a new amendment which shall legalize their system of prostitution. What they need more is a special crusade which would with fire and sword cleanse the foul nest of Mormonism and cause these villainous churchmen to respect the laws. The amendment which they would make in behalf of Utah would put several of its prominent citizens in jail.

The White Pine News has suspended publication. The News has run ever since 1870 and now closes because of decline in Hamilton.

The tie in White Pine county over assemblymen Green and Ellison has been decided in favor of Green by four votes.

The Contest in Florida.

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 16.— The supreme court met to-day in response to a petition numerously signed by citizens to act on the petition for a mandamus compelling the canvassing board of Alachua county to make a canvass of all the returns of the county, three precincts having been thrown out. Notices were served on the members thereof, but they did not appear or make answer to the court. Judge Baker of Jacksonville appeared for the board but he had had no consultation with his clients and wanted time. The court then adjourned from 11 to half past 3 to-day, when the matter was argued and the court granted an alternative writ of mandamus against the canvassing board of Alachua county returnable Wednesday next. Mr. Bisbee gave notice that on Monday he should ask for a writ of mandamus against the inspectors at precinct No. 4 in Madison county, to compel them to make a return of the election at that precinct. Bisbee claims that he has about 200 majority without this latter precinct, if the votes are counted in Alachua county. Senator Conover, who was beaten for congress in the first district, according to the Democratic way of making returns, has decided to contest the election.

A Positive Definition of the Southern Policy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. — A correspondent telegraphing from Washington says: President Hayes, when appealed to for an authorized announcement regarding his position toward the South and his intentions with reference to the violation of law at the recent election, went to his desk, and taking a pamphlet copy of his last message to congress, turned to the fourth page and said: "My position has not changed toward the South. It is the same now as when I wrote my letter of acceptance, my inaugural address and my message to congress a year ago. In my message I said that it should be our fixed and unalterable determination to protect by all available and proper means under the constitution and laws the emancipated race in the enjoyment of their rights and privileges. Whatever authority rests with me to this end I shall not hesitate to put forth." The President read the last sentence with emphasis.

Financial.

WASHINGTON, November 16.— The treasury department has begun the purchase of gold bullion at Denver, Col., purchasing directly from the mines and paying them in greenbacks. The department expects to buy at least $20,000 a week for some time, and to extend its purchase to all gold of the Black Hills country. The treasury department will pay miners the full value of their gold, charging only the cost of assaying, and sending it to Philapelphia to be coined at the transportation rate of 58 cents per thousand or as third class mail matter. The treasury will pay for whatever silver may be found with the gold, when the value is over 50 cents in the amount offered for sale.

Edison and the Electric Light.

CHICAAO, November 16.— A Tribune's Washington special says: Inquiry at the office shows that Edison has not yet received an American patent for his new electric light. His application is still pending. It it privately learned that Edison has recovered from his recent illness and is being unusually successful in his electric experiments. He thinks he is on the threshold of success, and within two weeks will illuminate Menlo Park with his contrivance.

MATRIMONIAL INFELICITY.

A Woman Thrice Married and Twice Divorced.

[S. F. Chronicle]

The case of Elizabeth P. Howell vs. Henry B. Howell, an action for divorce on the grounds of adultery and extreme cruelty, which had been pending for about a year past, came up again yesterday before Judge Dwinelle in the fifteenth district court on an order to defendant to show cause why all proceedings should not be stayed until the payment of counsel fees and alimony. The motion was denied, and at request of defendant's counsel the court issued a commission for the taking of the testimony of D. W. Heywood of Barre, Massachusetts. This gentleman was married to plaintiff October, 1848, and separated from her in 1858. Two children, both of whom are now living in this city, were the result of the union. In 1863 plaintiff became the wife of Charles C. Northrup, but dwelt with him only one year, and in 1870 she was wedded to Henry B. Howell, the defendant in the present action, and they have had two children, Grace and Burr. Mrs. Howell, who is better known by her stage name of Lizzie Parker Northrup, is a vocalist by profession and came to this city during the period between her first and second marriages, under engagement to Thomas Maguire. Heywood, her first husband, according to plaintiff's statement, procured a decree of divorce from her in the city of Boston, on the grounds of desertion, about the legality of which there now appears to be some question. Northrup, her second mate, so she avers, was a man of wealth and good habits when she was united to him, but soon became dissipated, and leaving her with the care of Heywood's two children, went from New York to Chicago, and there, as she supposes, obtained a divorce; but the records of the court were afterwards destroyed by fire, and the matter is veiled in a little uncertainty. In the action now pending, Mrs. Howell appears for the first time in the character of plaintiff in the course of a series of marital mismatches, alleges cruelty and adultery against her present spouse, and prays the court for a division of the common property and the custody of the children. Howell, in his answer, makes a general denial and files a cross-complaint asking that his marriage with plaintiff be annulled, for the reason that she was the wife of another at the date of her pretended union with him. Some time since, on the report of the court commissioners to whom the case was referred, Judge Dwindle made an order directing befendant to pay the fees and the sum of $40 per month alimony to plaintiff. Defendant claimed that he had no property whereupon an execution was issued and part of the amount collected. The question of divorce and the legality of the marriage still remains in statu quo.

Indian Affairs.

CHICAGO, November 16.—A Tribune Washington special says: Secretary Schurz will probably call upon General Sheridan, through the secretary of war, for an explanation of several charges made against the management of the Indian Bureaur General Sheridan seems, in fact, to have made a slip in his report, relative to the removal of the Red Cloud and Spotted Tail bands from the Missouri river. This General Sheridan severely condemns as in the interest of traders and speculators. It happens that the removal was made against the wish and protest of the interior department by direct order of the president, at the request of the Indians themselves, who threatened hostilities unless permitted to remove to a reservation of their own selection. The removal was made upon the recommendation and under the direction of General Crook, one of the army officers who has been most successful in his conduct of Indian affairs. Secretary Schurz in his forthcoming report will have a special paper on the Cheyenne outbreak, in which it will be maintained that the Indians were not only well fed in the agency, but left it well supplied with subsistence.

Paternal Government.

Colonel Ingersoll says he keeps a pocket-book in an open drawer, and his children go and help themselves to money whenever they want it. They eat when they want to and what they want to. They may sleep all day if they choose, and sit up all night if they desire. I don't coerce them. I never scold, never punish. They buy their own clothes and are masters of themselves." If the people want a paternel government they ought to elect Bob President. Just think of a pocket-book always on tap. It beats all the other ideas.

COMFORT FOR THE CINCHED.

The voice of lamentation is rising all over the coast. Once more "the bottom has dropped out of stocks." The bottom has a habit of doing that but the recurrence of the disastrous phenomena fails to serve as a warning. This lamentation is not an honest lamentation. It is a selfish scream at a hurt that is self-inflicted. What would be thought of a man who should begin to whine and complain over a loss at poker or faro? The game of stocks differs only from the game of cards in the size of stakes. This is constantly lost sight of, of course. Thousands of persons who look upon the handling of cards as contamination have no moral scruples in betting heavily on the turn of the market. Every man decides for himself whether is it right or wrong to gamble and whether he can afford the risk. That decision once made and the risk taken it is the height of meanness to "squeal" when the chances go against one. Those who are now bawling at the sharks of Pine street would be very glad to be one of the sharks. It makes a termendous difference in the moral view one takes of gambling when one has been lucky. The people of this coast can't be told anything new about the heartless manner in which the monarchs of the market manipulate stocks for their own advantage. Knowing this—knowing that no mercy will be given when the time comes for mercilessness—the man who goes into stocks and comes out at the small opening of the speculative tunnel, deserves no special sympathy. If he happens to be our friend, we are sorry that he has lost, that is the full extent of our condolence with the fellow who has been cinched. He knew the chances he was taking, and by grumbling and blubbering he only makes himself pitiable and ridiculous.

Pondering on the Chinese, the philosopher of the Sacramento Bee thus muses aloud:

However much we may deplore their presence among us we cannot but admit that, as a nation, they are a wonderful class of men.

True. Wonderfully dirty, wonderfully mean, wonderfully immoral and nasty, wonderfully theivish, wonderfully fond of chickens, wonderfully capable of ruining the country and wonderfully productive of white demagogues.

The magnifying power of time and distance is beautifully shown in this extract from the New York Sun:

Tar and feathers have been used very freely in Reno, Nevada, five offenders having been coated within a few months. The last of these outrages is supposed to have been followed by murder, as the victim has been missing since he was in the hands of the mob.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The New York Times is publishing full dispatches regarding the alleged bulldosing of Republicans in the South. They present every phrase of villainy which can be imagined in connection with the election franchise. Here, however, is something new, and as the dispatch says, it almost staggers belief:

In all the counties of South Carolina where there was opposition, the Democrats voted a diminutive tissue ballot, inclosed generally in a larger one. They were voted in batches. I have heard two men confess to voting, respectively, 18 and 20 of them. In some boxes there were four times as many votes as there were voters in the precinct. In others the excess of votes over voters was withdrawn by a blindfolded man, who almost invariably took out the Republican tickets. In this county the Republicans vote more solidly than in 1876, when the majority was over 1500 Republican. This time it is 2800 Democratic, (more than the number of Democratic voters.) Stuffing was resorted to as a pastime, and was crrried beyond all bounds of necessity. Everybody is laughing about it, and no attempt to deny or conceal the fraud is made, except in the newspapers. The tissue paper tickets are general throughout Republican counties, showing that the scheme emanated from headquarters.

Such voters ought to be concilated.

There was a pleasant affair at Virginia on Sunday evening. A party of journalists of all shades of political opinion united in inviting Senator Jones to dine with them. The Virginia Chronicle, the Enterprise, New York Herald, Gold Hill News, Lyon County Times, San Francisco Post and the Reno GAZETTE were represented. The compliment to Senator Jones was novel and coming right upon the heels of a hot political campaign in which the re-election of Senator Jones was one of the main issues, was no doubt appreciated. Such buryings of the partizan hatchet should be more common. It ought not to be so hard for men to forget now and then that they are Democrats and Republicans and to meet as gentlemen. The little meeting of Sunday night was an indication of the respect and liking in which Senator Jones is held by men of intelligence of all parties.

There is no state in which the recent elections brought out the proof of a happier change of public feeling than in Pennsylvania. For a long time both parties there have seemed to be much given over to the vagaries of the currency mongers. The Democrats have been wholly so, and the Republicans have offered very little better doctrine than their nominal opponents. But, thanks to the sterling common sense and business-like directness of Mr. Hoyt, their candidate for governor, aided by the party managers, the Republicans early in the campaign forsook the inanities of their platform and made a straight and gallant fight for hard money and resumption. The splendid victory which they have achieved will confirm them in their new position, and we have, doubtless, seen the last of trimming on the financial question among the Republicans of Pennsylvania.

After all that has been said about the sensationalism of Talmage, the eccentric parson of Brooklyn, there is no denying that he tells a good many truths. He has been visiting the gambling dens and other strongholds of New York wickedness and tells what he saw there and goes for the moral scalps of respectable rascals who go in for vice on the sly. If Talmage never does anything worse than this, we hope that other clergymen will follow his sensational example.

Mrs. John Side, of Altoona, has given birth to triplets. We don't know where Altoona is, but we're willing to bet large sums on the correctness of the returns. Furthermore, there is money ready to back the affirmative of the proposition that John advises all young men to marry. In the face of such frightful dangers, we ask in all calmness what these married unfortunates mean by asking any man to forsake a condition of life in which triplets are impossible?

A New York dispatch says that the medical commission which recently visited the South to investigate the origin and causes of the yellow fever will report next week. It presents a startling array of fact sustaining the theory that this epidemic travels in the path of commerce and is always imported by means of infected ships, persons, freight or clothing; also, that the conditions for its spread are lowlands and fermenting filth. The general conclusions reached are, that its original introductions may be prevented by thorough quarantining and fumigating of all vessels from infected ports, including freights, and that its spread can be absolutely checked by careful destruction of fermenting filth, in which its germs are developed and disseminated.

As to the cause of the sounds frequently heard to proceed from telegraph wires in the open air it has been customary to accept the wind, it producing the sounds by direct vibration similar to those of the Æolian harp. A writer in an Austrian journal, however, calls attention to the fact that one who gives close observation to both the wire and sounds will find that the latter make themselves obvious likewise when there is a total absence of wind; and in a quiet morning in winter, when the wires appear covered with frost to the thickness of a finger, they nevertheless carry on lively vibrations and swinging, while the air is toally quiet. According to this writer, therefore, the vibrations are due, not to the wind, but to the changes of atmosphere temperature, and especially by the action of cold, as a lowering of the temperature induces a shortening of the wires, extending over the whole length of the conductor. A considerable amount of friction is produced on the supporting bells, thus inducing sound both in the wires and the poles.

There is a fine cheerful conscienceless about the daily articles in the San Francisco Stock Exchange. The man who writes them must be an old poker player. He never unduly rejoices when the market booms and he never resorts to moralizing when the bottom of the market is unscrewed and skill ully lowered. He is a philosopher and a pagan. A neater confession of ignorance and indifference than this with reference to yesterday's smash would be hard to find anywhere: "The only safe conclusion is that a game is being worked out, the course of which is only known to the players. The best plan for the prophets is to say nothing, but wait until the present shall be clear in the future, and then say as usual, we predicted it."

The young man of the Evening Post (stationary) has emitted these three squibs.

Every man has his price, but women are given away.

The idol of not a few men is the perpendicular pronoun, which is as unworthy of worship as a Chinese joss.

Education would be of but little benefit to the working class, if it imparted no ambition to raise themselves to a higher social condition.

These all came in one issue, and hence the Post was a very valuable paper on that day. Join these three ideas and we shall have the young located. Without caring to know how many women have been given to him, or why he worships perpendicular selfishness, it is still reasonable to inquire the exact date when education imparted to him an ambition to rise. That must have been so far back that it needs accurate determination.

The Silver State says it is reported that Rev. J. D. Hammond, who was beaten by D. R. Sessions for the state superintendent of public instructions, is to be principal of the state university of Elko, the position which Prof. Sessions now fills. As the Nevada state university is nothing more than a sort of a primary school for the town of Elko, nobody will find fault with Governor (that is to be) Kinkead for putting the preacher in charge, if the parents of Elko do not.—Chronicle.

Governor Kinkead is not the appointing power in this case. The authority is vested in a board of regents.

The New York Times tells of a practical joker who got tired of life and wrote this note:

NEW YORK, November 10, 1871.—I am tired of life and am about to commit suicide. You will find my body at the terrace at 8 o'clock.

WILLIAM WATSON.

William then gave way to his humorous propensities and either laid his body in another place, or made a cruel hoax out of the whole affair. He ought to be fined for malicious mischief.

Woman is a curious creature. She is all gentleness and purity and angelic all round, of course, but she does queer things occasionally. She is petitioning in Salt Lake now to be a polygamist.

Captain Tyson has returned from search of the Polar sea, and he declares his conviction that no open sea can evist where the cold is so intense. Did Captain Tyson expect to find it hot up there? Did he suppose the north pole was kept comfortable by warm springs? We have never been at the north pole ourselves, of course, but neither has Captain Tyson, and we can assure him that it is cold in the neighborhood of the big stick.

A correspondent of the London Standard has the boldness to object to the extent of the subscriptions for the relief of the sufferers by the recent Thames disaster. He sees no reason why the survivors should be made better off by public charity than they would have been if the accident had not occurred, or than others of their class who lose friends and relatives by other misfortunes.

The White Pine News, which has been published in Hamilton since 1869, suspended publication last week. The reason assigned for suspension is dull times and the inability of its owners to publish the paper without loss. Hamilton supported two daily papers at one time, and was one of the liveliest towns in Nevada.

Some Carsonites want to disincorporate the town and will try to accomplish their object with the next legislature. It is to be hoped that the enterprising part of Carson's citizens who want good sidewalks, decent drainage and efficient police service will set themselves successfully in the way of the retrograders.

"If you don't use the ballot to redress your wrongs, in November, you will be obliged to use the bayonet and the bludgeon!" wrote a fierce Greenback editor of Lynn, Mass. That editor was in Canada during the war, and will be in jail when they use the bayonet and bludgeon.

Our congratulations are extended to the dramatic critic of the San Francisco Post. In speaking of a new play he says "the first performance was given last night." Every other dramatic critic in the country would have said "the initial production was rendered last evening."

It is gratifying to observe that the high court of judiciary has refused to admit to bail any more of the Glasgow bank directors. The Stock Report fully endorses the court's action in the premises.—S. F. Stock Report.

And the high court of judiciary will now go on a spree of rejoicing in consequence.

The Ward Reflex has a report that Senator Sharon is to resign in favor of Hon. A. C. Cleaveland, of White Pine. The Sentinel would like to see Cleave. in the place.—Eureka Sentinel.

The GAZETTE would like to see the present Republican legislature elect Mr. Sharon's successor.

Judge Scott retires from the Battle Mountain Messenger, and is succeeded by John Sterling and W. W. Robins. The Messenger has been a lively and readable paper under the old management.

King Humbert came near being knifed the other day by a patriot. Patriots are becoming too fresh. A guard is stationed on the stair of the GAZETTE office.

The depreciation of real estate dur- last year, for the whole state of New York, is over $17,000,000, by report of the board of equalization.

The Times-Review spells emigration with two m's and the editor refers to himself as "ourself." Reno's tar bucket is at the service of Tuscarora.

Governor Bradley has gone to San Jose, California, to remain for a time. So says the Appeal.

The editor of the Sacramento Bee marvels that some of the newspaper men who sat down at the table in Virginia the other evening with Senator Jones, could do so after having viciously abused one another during the late political campaign. There is really nothing strange about this. Even when not excited by politics we describe the Bee man as a dunderhead and a narrow-minded blotch on the back of liberal journalism, yet we would not have the slightest objection to eating at the same table with him, if we were very hungry.

Says the New York Sun: Paradise, Nevada, is not to political candidates all that its name implies. Two men who were running for office went there and made speeches, after which they lodged in the only hotel. In the morning they found that all their clothing except the shirts that they had kept on their backs, had been jocosely taken by the miners and pawned for whiskey. Of course, any show of resentment would have been injudicious.

Once more outsiders have been taught to their cost that the condition of a mine has mighty little to do with the price of the stock. Read this dispatch sent to San Francisco from Virginia City yesterday, when holders of Sierra Nevada were being hopelessly ruined:

VIRGINIA CITY, Nov. 20.

TO CROWLEY & GOODMAN: Have just come out of the Sierra Nevada. The mine is all I was ever reported to be. It never looked or promised better. The formation is regular and the ore rich. J. P. JONES.

Henceforth no first-class stock operator should be without a balloon among his personal effects. When the market goes down suddenly the operator will find it convenient to shoot up above the clouds with corresponding rapidity and stay there for a few days. From that position calmness in addressing the mob will be safe and easy.

The young editorial philosopher of the San Francisco Post thus bitterly complains:

The fellows who stand around the theatres on matinee days gazing at the pretty girls as they come out, are as much to be pitied as the poor wretches who have to satisfy their hunger by smelling other people's savory dishes.

A snow-shoe rabbit is at the Smithsonian institute. It was caught in the snowy pine range, at the head of the Yellowstone river. It differs from the other rabbits in its feet, which are broad as a man's hand. They are natural snow shoes, enabling the animal to elude its pursuers.

Lynching is a new element in stock gambling which will make the game vastly more interesting to those who are likely to become the lynchees.

A HERO'S RETURN.

In another column will be found Dennis Kearney's farewell present of cheek and profanity on leaving the East, where he has made such a conspicuous blackguard and fool of himself. In everything he has undertaken since leaving San Francisco Dennis has failed. We all know how he predicted Butler's election, and how he ferociously promised to make the streets of Boston run with blood should the voters of Massachusetts decline to follow his orders and choose Butler for governor. Such a defeat as Butler has suffered doesn't diminish Dennis' boasting and blasphemy one bit. Neither does his ridiculous retreat from Boston, whose pavements were to be bespatterd with gore. If anyone thinks that Kearney will be more modest on his return to San Francisco, he doesn't know Dennis. If the newspapers give him the same encouragement as they did before his departure, the shallow little fraud will set San Fransisco in uproar again. According to Kearney's story, to be told on the regained sand lots, we shall see that his progress through the East was one triumphal march. The foremost journals of the eastern cities give "the California aggravator" a good-bye notice, agreeing in spirit with the following excellent one from the New York Herald.

Kearney leaves for his sunny home in the sand lots of San Francisco. We would bid him good-bye, with sincere thanks for coming East. He was heard patiently and good-naturedly, curiously, and wherever he spoke he settled the question on which he addressed the people: He decided it contrary to his own desires, of course; but that, also, was his own doing. Whatever merit may be in his cause, he ought to be convinced that American voters are not to be persuaded by oaths, nor by inflamatory appeals, nor by shameless abuse of opponents. Kearney was fully and fairly reported in the press which he was so fond of vilifying, and we must say that in this way the press revenged itself upon him. That he was heard and read by all men was his ruin. That he spoke freely and was reported fully, was the ruin of his cause. Whether he returns home, either wiser or better it is not possible to tell, but he leaves the East, having done good work in proving to all classes of our people that there is nothing in Dennis Kearney, nor in the movement of which he has made himself the head, so far as he is its true expositor, which deserves the sympathy of any decent or industrious American citizen.

CORRECT.

The movement lately agreed to among many of our prominent merchants to reduce business to a cash basis after December 1st is eminently correct, and in connection with the present stock panic its virtues can be fully shown. The merchant who is forced to pay for goods in sixty days, knows how hard it is to carry customers for one year. He can never hope to make his San Francisco creditors see that he is solvent unless the money is forthcoming. Added to the necessity of prompt payment in one direction, and the certainty of delay in the other, the fact is to be noted that when people can get credit they are prone to speculate. The merchant who has been lenient for a term of months can hardly see good reason for delay in his customer's assertion that stocks are down, and be must put up more margins. When drafts are pouring in by every mail, the raising of the needful to protect the flour market is of more importance to the merchant than any defense of the stock quotations.

We do not suppose that any responsible man will be denied supplies under the new rule. But it will be far better for all concerned that we get back to specie payments as soon as possible. The GAZETTE, therefore, endorses the views advanced by Messrs. Hagerman and Manning, believing them to be in the interest of the entire community.

TRUCKEE'S ACTION.

Sentimental journalists are weeping over the conduct of the citizens of Truckee toward the Chinese of that town. These tears are not the tears of common sense. The whites of Truckee did not care to have disease threatening their health and fire their property. They made liberal offers to buy the land in the town owned by the Mongolians and procured a good tract of land for them at a low price and at a safe distance from the town. All these fair offers were refused and, acting under advice from paid white counselors, the Chinese began rebuilding their shanties in the heart of Truckee. Finding that all other means had failed, the citizens—the best and wealthiest of them taking the lead—took down the buildings, destroying nothing, even taking care to pile the lowered lumber. There was no rage or violence and nothing approaching the mob spirit. The citizens of Truckee determined to protect themselves and their property from the danger of a Chinatown in the centre of the settlement. That the strict letter of the law has been violated, no one denies. It frequently happens, in courts as well as communities, that the strict letter has to be overlooked in order to reach the spirit of the law, which is justice.

HONORS TO AN AMERICAN.

Col. W. Milnor Roberts of Pittsburg, Pa., president of the American society of civil engineers has been appointed by Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil, engineer-in-chief of the improvements of the water highways of that country, at a salary of $60,000 for three years, or if the work is sooner done, $25,000 per year. Col. Roberts is one of the most eminent and distinguished engineers in the United States. In addition to the honors conferred on him in his own country he is a member of the royal institute of C. E. of Great Britian. He is still chief engineer of the Northern Pacific railroad which bears the impress of his master mind on every mile. He was the choice of the government for the joint commission of inspection for Niagara falls bridge, and wrote the able report returned; was one year in charge of the building of the St. Louis bridge. While Captain Eads was ill in Europe he was engineer of the government improvements on the Ohio River. He was a member of the board who designed the Keokuk bridge over the Mississippi and of the commission of 1874 that reported in favor of the jetty system at the mouth of the Mississippi, which have since been so successful and many other important works of every kind. Col. Roberts will add new lustre to his own high reputation as well as to the already brilliant renown of American engineers.

What effect would the hanging of Skae have upon the price of Sierra Nevada stock? Is the experiment worth trying? Mr. Skae's opinion on the point would be of some interest.

A COMPLIMENT WELL DESERVED.

Senator Jones Eatertained at Dinne r by Members of the Nevada Press.

[Virginia Chronicle, Monday.]

A number of gentlemen representing the press of Storey and adjacent counties—Republicans and Democrats alike—entertained Senator John P. Jones at dinner last evening, as an expression of their high regard for him as a watchful representative of the interests of Nevada in the senate of the United States. R. M. Daggett presided. After dinner every gentleman present expressed the most kindly sentiments of good-will toward their honored guest, and wished him unbounded success in his future senatorial labors. Realizing, as all did, that on the re-assembling of congress, efforts would again be made to impair if not destroy the benefits to accrue to the nation from the adoption of the double money standard, there was a generally expressed wish that the press of Nevada—so much interested in this question—should present an unfaltering advocacy of the great silver bill, with which the senator's name was so honorably associated.

The gentlemen present included T. B. H. Stenhouse, correspondent of the New York Herald; R. M. Daggett, of the Enterprise; State Senator W. Frank Stewrt, Arthur McEwen, of the Reno GAZETTE; T. E. Picotte, of the Lyon County Times; Alf. Doten and W. W. Austin, of the Gold Hill News; E. L. Colnon and D. E. McJarthy, of the Evening Chronicle. All the formalities usually incident to occasions of this character were dispensed with. It was simply an earnest, honest manifestation of the appreciation and good-will felt toward the senator by the gentlemen who had occasion to closely watch his course in the senate, and was joined in as heartily by the members of the Democratic press as by those of the senator's own political creed. A delightful evening was spent.

A Lecture on Glanders.

[S. F. Bulletin, Monday.]

On Saturday morning A. de Tavel, veterinary surgeon, delivered a lecture at the university at Berkeley on the subject of glanders. The disease is characterized by swoolen glands, ulcers in the nasal passage and discharge from the nostrils. In chronic glanders the disease begins like simple catarrh but in the acute disease the animal shows signs of fever, and the ulcers in the nose become large. The disease continues from four days to fifteen years, but the average continues from fifteen to twenty days. The lungs are always affected and other organs are often attacked. That the disease is contagious has been proved by many experiments. Dogs, cats, sheep and cattle are easily inoculated. Man can be inoculated also, and the doctor mentioned several cases in this city where men had died from the disease. At present there is no known remedy for the disease, and when the symptoms become well marked in any animal, it should be killed. Specimens of diseased skin were exhibited, showing the pathology of the disease.

A Shocking Blunder.

[S. F. Stock Exchange.]

Charles F. Crocker of the Central Pacific stepped into the wrong buggy on the 4th instant and drove off with it. The owner missed his vehicle soon afterwards and requested officer Wallace to hunt up "the thief." Wallace found the buggy standing on Sansome near California and watched it. When Mr. Crocker came out and climbed into it, Wallace, who did not know nim, climbed in, too, and drove around to the city prison, and booked Mr. Crocker for grand larceny. Crocker declared his identity and was released, and now he has had the officer cited to appear before the commissioners on a charge of making an unlawful arrest. Everybody can not be supposed to see the royalty which halos the head of our railroad magnates, and officer Wallace did not see it. He only did his duty, and the whole blame rests with Crocker. People who drive off with other people's buggies must expect to have a little unpleasantness occasionally and to suffer for their own mistakes.

A Great Flood in England.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Norwich is inundated by a freshet in the river Winsum, in consequence of a fortnight's steady rain. Two of the most densely populated districts are several feet under water. The basements of all the factories, warehouses, graneries and dwellings along the river are flooded. One or two deaths by drowning are reported. Four or five miles of streets are submerged, and from 3000 to 4,000 dwellings made uninhabitable. The result is a vast pecuniary damage. The authorities are maintaining the homeless poor.

Fatal Explosion of a Locomotive.

MAHONY CITY, Pa., November 18.—The boiler of the locomotive Gem exploded at the Philadelphia and Reading depot yesterday, instantly killing the engineer, Frank Broccous, conductor Jacob Trout, and a boy named Calvan Lutz. George Haganbuch, a boy, died later. Eight or ten others were injured badly. The engine is a complete wreck, and the depot and telegraph offices are badly shattered.

Governor Fremont, of Arizona, in his report to the secretary of the interior, expresses the opinion that the control of Indians there should be transferred to the military.

A Terrible Situation.

[Silver State, Tuesday.]

Ferd. Reid informs us that a serious accident befell Fred Brougham of camp McDermit, last week while on his way home from his wood ranch which is situated in the mountains, several miles from the post. It appears that he left the ranch last Thursday morning with a buggy and span of horses. The horses took fright at some object by the road-side and became unmanagable. He held on the reins until the wagon, which is a heavy mountain buggy, capsised, and his feet getting entangled in the reins, he was dragged a considerable distance. Finally, the horses broke lose and left Brougham lying under the wagon in a helpless condition until Friday afternoon, some thirty hours, when W. P. Moulder, who was on his way to the wood ranch, found him and took him home. His right side is partially paralyzed, and his right arm is powerless. He was pretty low at last accounts, but Dr. Todd, the post surgeon, who is attending him, thinks that with proper care he will recover the use of his arm.

The Robbers of Stewart's Grave.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19th. — William Burke, alias Baker, alias Beaty, and Hank Whalen, alias Henry Vreeland, arrested some days ago on suspicion of being implicated in the desecration of A. T. Stewart's tomb, and with stealing his body, were before Justice Morgan, of the Jefferson Market police court, yesterday, for examination. Captain Byrnes, of the fifteenth precinct who made the arrest, made a long statement, under oath, detailing minutely all the circumstances touching the arrest of the prisoners and the fruitless search he made in their company for Stewart's body. Burke had made mysterious remarks pretending a knowledge of the deed, and implicates Whalen. Both, after being arrested acted suspiciously, telling how the "d—d stiff stank when they had removed it in a wagon." They had confessed to witness, and afterwards denied their guilt. The prisoners were remanded for formal complaint to-morrow.

Senator Booth on California Politics.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The Inter-Ocean has an interview with Senator Booth, now here for a few days. The senator stated that he was certain the Republicans could carry California if the election were held to-day. He said the Workingmen's party is strong there yet, and will be the means of carrying the state for the Republicans by causing the other parties to unite against it. All parties believed that Chinese immigration should be checked. The Kearneyites alone demanded the ultra step of expelling all who are there. He believed Blaine, Grant or any one nominated by the Republicans for President would carry the state. He believed the Republicans would not carry a single Southern state in 1880, but would carry all the Northern states, with the possible exception of Indiana.

The Use of the Army.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The secretary of war's report was read in the cabinet to-day. It asks congress either to repeal the posse comitatus clause in the last appropriation and allow the President to use the army as authorized by the constitution, or clearly interpret the clause so that the army may be used to suppress disturbances when called by the civil authorities. The secretary makes no recommendation relative to the transfer of the Indian management to the army. He asks that congress legalize his action furnishing supplies to yellow fever sufferers and a pension for the widow of Lieutenant Benner.

Hawkeye: A girl in Hillsboro, N. C., poisoned a young man because he refused to make love to her. Young men run a fearful risk in refusing to make love to young women. But per contra, we read that, in another town, a young girl shot the top of a young man's head off because he presisted in making love to her. Therefore, young men also run a risk in making love to a young woman. The safest plan would be to start on an expedition to discover the North Pole. There are no young women there.

The Clothing War.

EDITOR GAZETTE: In the Journal of October 3d, I find an announcement signed L. Abrahams, of the White House. This announcement sets forth that other dealers in clothing keeps "humbug shops" and offer "unsalable goods" to the public. He also believes that these humbug dealers "lie to decieve the public." I represent, for my part of the humbuggery, Mr. Editor, I represent that when I offer "unsalable goods" I always suffer for it, and not Mr. Abrams. The people have worn my goods long enough to know better than Mr. Abrahams whether they com from a "humbug shop" or not. During my many years residence and business in Reno, I have made my own reputation and it is safe from the interested charges brought by this newcomer at the White House.

Now, whether I keep a humbug shop or not, I shall continue to sell the best goods in market and at the lowest rates. I shall SELL men and boys clothing cheaper than "Whitey" can BUY them. I shall keep more goods, and a realer stock always on hand. And all of these assertions, so far from being "lies to decieve the public" can be proven by my patrons during fair week as they have been proven any time during the past ten years.

M. NATHAN,

The scarcity of diamonds, gold and silver, and the difficulties met with in securing them, is a sure indication of their value. Thus it is with a valuable medicine: Dr. Aug. Kaiser's celebrated German Pulmonic Elixir, through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way; but its opponents might as well try to change the course of the sun, sweep back the ocean with a broom, or put out a prairie fire with a tear. For the cure of Throat and Lung diseases, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchial Affections it is unequalled. Its cures are truly magical. Ask your druggists, OSBURN & SHOEMAKER, for it. The genuine bears the Prussian Coat of Arms, the fac-simile signature of Dr. Aug. Kaiser, and has his name blown on every 75-cent bottle. Trial bottle, 25 cents. au7eod

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.—I do no sell any goods 20 per cent. below cost, or even at cost, but I offer my first-class stock of clothing, furnishing goods, boots and shoes, hats and caps, trunks and valises, etc., which have been bought for cash at the lowest market rates. Therefore I wish the public to post themselves on my prices before going to the humbug shops where they are always drumming into the ear that they are selling at cost. or below cost. They either bought unsalable goods or they lie to deceive the public; they don't deserve to be patronized. Remember the One Price Store—The White House—No. 19 Commercial Row, next door to the postoffice. L. ABRAHAMS.

THE RELIC-MAKER.

A Visit to Mr. Hendricks in His Cell at the City Prison.

[Virginia Chronicle.]

William Hendricks, the young man who a few weeks ago, was sentenced by Justice Moses to sixty days in jail, for obtaing money under false pretenses, was visited by a Chronicle reporter this morning. Hendricks is the man who manufactured a number of bogus relics and sold them to various parties about town at fancy prices. The relic-maker was found in cell No. 6, sitting cross-legged in his bunk, and, aided by the light of a tallow candle was manufacturing relics at a rapid rate. He greeted the reporter with a laugh and remarked:

"Let me sell you a twig plucked from the grave of Adam," at the same time holding out a stick about a foot long.

"What are all these?" asked the reporter.

"Relics, my boy, relics. Here (clipping off a corner of his blanket with a knife) is a peice of the blanket that Napoleon wrapped himself up in the night before the battle of Austerlitz. Relics are the easist thing in the world to make, and you can always sell them for good prices. You can run across men everywhere who have a passion for the rare and unique. Those are the fellows I nail. A... ferior work of art with a history attached brings more than a really good production minus a history. Why, half the cabinets in saloons about town are filled with bogus relics. I've sold lots of 'em. The fools will buy anything curious. I've found Eureka and Pioche a good field. An old rusty knife with some chicken's blood sprinkled on the blade will generally bring $20 as the souvenir of a murder. I've sold over a dozen such right in this town. I could give you the names of a dozen or twenty leading citizens I've taken in."

"Hank Smith denies that you ever swindled him on a bogus etching purporting to be by Hogarth."

"Oh, he does, does he? Perhaps Frank Osbiston, George King, Martin Gillette and a few others will say they never patronized me. They all bit beautifully, and I raked in a good profit. I guess they'd sell some of those trinkets pretty cheap now."

"What will you do when you get out?"

"Oh I'll go to 'Frisco and take in a few flats down there. By the time I get out I'll have a big stock on hand, and if the stock market keeps up I can get good prices."

Here the man fell to work on an old piece of leather, which he said he was going to work up as a section of Oliver Cromwell's boot, and the reporter withdrew.

Exemplary Scoundrels.

There was one very exemplary man among the directors and officers of the City of Glasgow bank, who squandered seven millions of money confided to their charge. This was L. Potter. Five years ago he built the Burnback free church and became responsible for the greater portion of the cost of the fabric, and in consequence of this liberality enjoyed great fame for pious zeal and benevolence. During all the years when, according to the inspectors' report, he actively assisted in falsifying the accounts, in making away with the cash reserve and in deceiving the shareholders and the public, he steadily refused to take in or read Monday's newspapers because they were printed on the first day of the week. Of Wm. Taylor, also, another director, it is remarked that he occupied a prominent position as president of the Glasgow young men's christian association, and as a representative on several occasions of St. Enoch's church in the general assembly.

His Card.

They were playing cards, when all of a sudden the game was interrupted, angry words passed and the players rose.

"See here, you're holding altogeter too many aces."

"What do you say sir?"

"I say you are a swindler."

"I will call you to account for this unpardonable insult."

"I am at your service at any time."

"Here is my card, sir." (Throws down, by mistake, another ace, which he draws from his pocket.)

Still in Doubt.

[Silver State]

The election of district judge in Lander, Nye and Churchill counties is still in doubt. The vote is very close between McKinney and Anderson, and two precincts— Duckwater and Currant Creek, Nye county, are yet to be heard from, so says the Reveille. Everybody supposed that Judge McKinney, the present incumbent, would be elected by a large majority; but elections this year disappointed a great many.

Three years ago a young man graduated from the military academy at West Point and came west. His soul was filled with grand, lofty aspirations, and he sought in the untrodden fields of the mighty west room for his soaring genius to plume itself for flight. He braced his feet as he prepared to shake the globe. To-day he is the traveling agent for a Cicinnatti corset factory.—Burlington Hawkeye.

The superintendent of the bonanza mines says that the discharged miners will resume work as soon as the connection is made with Ophir, which will be in about ten days.

Diphtheria in Oregon

[Yamhill Reporter.]

That terror of the land still plies its grim mission with woeful havoc in almost every section of the country. Within a few days it has laid a heavy hand on several families living up beyond Sheridan. A family named Burton, living in the Nestucka, buried five children within a week or so, leaving one only of their circle of six. This was a sad case. The family lived in an isolated section, far beyond any neighbor. Three of the little ones were taken down and died while not a soul knew of their trying condition outside of the stricken household. The parents buried their lifeless offspring alone and uncomforted. Two others were attacked by the fatal scourge. An Indian finally came along and was dispatched to Grand Ronde for medicine and aid, but while on this side of Salmon river that stream rose and flooded the messenger's pathway, so that before he or others could get to the suffering family the two sick ones had joined the majority in the solemn hush of death. A family named Hussy, living on the Upper Yamhill, have recently buried two children, and a neighbor, whose name we did not learn, lost a little son about the same time.

He Got a Bonus.

[New Haven Register.]

The genteel tramp mounted the landing and rang the front door bell. "Would you be so kind," said he, as the mistress of the house appeared at the door, "to exchange this piece of pie for a couple of hard-boiled eggs and a cup of coffee? I am of a dyspeptic turn, and this is the ninth quarter of a mince pie that I have tried to go through this morning. I can't stand it, it's too much of a sameness. If you accept my proposition, you can also have the satisfaction of telling the neighbors that Mrs. Robinson, across the street, uses alspice instead of cloves, and that the under crust is very slacked baked." The temptation was very great, and the genteel tramp had his eggs and coffee and a large triangle of frosted cake as a bonus.

Charges Against U. S. Surveyor General Wagner.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. — Robert Gardner, formerly state surveyor-general of California, has preferred charges to Secretary Schurz against surveyor-general Wagner, alleging that Wagner, in the interest of speculators, has caused lands to be surveyed which were not within the authorized classes, in order to make up fractional townships for location by holders of state school land and indemnity scrip. Secretary Schurz and Commissioner Williamson declined to ertertain the charges, in the informal and unsupported form in which they were recently received, but a telegram has reached the department from Gardner, stating that he yesterday forwarded affidavits in support of them.

Items from Oregon.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 14.—John S. Zeitzer, at one time surveyor-general of Oregon, died suddenly at his home yesterday noon, near Salem, of heart disease.

A telegram from Walla Walla announce that W. H. Newell, editor and proprietor of the Walla Walla Statesman, died at that place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. He had been ill and sinking for a considerable time. Mr. Newell was a journalist of prominence.

A man named Leibe committed suicide at the Dalles yesterday by drowning. He was engaged in the grocery business and was not prospering and became despondent.

Would Make It Reasonable.

[Turner's Falls Reporter]

He had broken his promise to marry the girl, and her father wanted a money consideration to help heal a wounded heart. The young man said he would consider a reasonable proposition. "Well then, said the irate father, who was seeking justice for his daughter, "Young man, how does a dollar and a half strike you!"

Don't Understand It.

[Bridgeport Standard.]

There's a pile of truth in the old saying that one-half of the world doesn't know how the other half lives, and that's why so many can't understand how the man who has scored six failures out of a possible four years can wear a gilt color on his everyday dog, and have a bay window on the back side of his house.

Sometimes the service of a civil engineer are cheap at twice the money. A Henderson county farmer worked four days last week digging a ditch to drain a bit of low meadow of his farm into a big pond on another man's farm. And when the ditch was opened the pond just walked right into the meadow and located about twenty acres of swamp, right where the hay used to grow. And the farmer was just the maddest man.

Wholesale Body-Snatching in Ohio.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, November 14.—At 4 o'clock this morning a policeman on watch had his suspicions aroused at the movements of a party in a wagon, and upon pursuing them fourteen miles they left the wagon, and with it four bodies of prominent citizens lately deceased and buried at Woodlawn cemetery.

Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these: They won't have Ben.—Ben Butler.

The Crowning Folly of the Turkish Campaign.

The crowning folly of the Turkish campaign on the Balkan peninsula was the series of desperate assaults at Shipka pass. At a critical moment, when the Russian army had been defeated at Plevna and seemed to be falling to pieces, Suleiman's victorious troops were hurled against an impregnable position—fairly brained against a stone wall, to use Mr. Forbes' phrase. The trial of the general before the Seraskierate, which had been going on for nearly four months, has brought to light the remarkable fact that he was not wholly responsible for that foolish although heroic enterprise before Shipka, which cost so much blood and foiled all the other military combination, and which was the prime cause of the disaster by which it was followed. With animated gesture and fiery eye, and with an eloquence which held his audience spell bound, the accused general denounced the organization which pervaded from the outset of hostilities the military staff of the Otoman armies. This he attributes principally to the minister of war and the military councils, who wanted to meddle with the direction of operations. He blames in energetic terms the constant interference of the palace and of Mahmoud Damad Pasha in the military affairs, and with vindictive pleasure unrolls before the eyes of his judges a series of telegrams and dispatches, the authenticity of which can not be disputed, and with which the marshal makes skilful use to brand with infamy the war minister and all the civil and military Pashas who had been his auxiliaries. So effective was the defence that the vice-president of the court was dispatched to Yielding Klosque to advise the sultan to quash the trial by inducing Suleiman to accept, if possible, a pro forma conviction for some slight faults for which he could be adjudged responsible.

Railroad Affairs.

The report of the Central Pacific railroad company, as published, shows the earnings of the railroad for the six months ending June 30th, 1878, to be in excess of the same period in 1877, while the operating expenses are considerably less. The gross earnings and expenses of the road for the first half of the current year as compared with the same time in 1877, are as follows:

Jan. 1 to June 30.	1877	1878
Gross earnings	$7,466,138	$7,839,537
Operating expenses	3,926,124	3,630,860
Excess earnings	$3,540,014	$4,208,677

The number of miles of road operated was increased from 1660 in January 1877, to 2074 in January 1878. The capital stock of the company is $54,275,500, and the funded debt, $54,785,000. The bonds issued by the government to the company amount to $27,855,680. These bonds draw interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, and so far the government has paid this interest. The total liabilities of the company are $152,221,238, for which there are assests, including $1,290,000 in cash, to balance. The assets embrace the road bed, rolling stock, lands, offices, etc., of the company. The government holds a second mortgage on the property of the company as security for the payment of the $27,855,680 in bonds, and the interest paid on the same, amounting to about $8,000,000, and the funded debt is secured by a first mortgage on the same property.

Poor Lo.

[Norristown Herald.]

Lo! the poor Indian! When he goes home to his cheerless wigwam in the evening he has no dime novel with which to while away the weary hours; no friend next door to come in and talk politics; no medical almanacs to read; no New York papers with full proceedings of the racy Vanderbilt will case; no money in a safe for masked robbers to break in and steal—no civilized pleasures of this kind. He simply hangs up the bloody scalps he has captured during the day, beats his squw with a club, wraps a buffalo robe around him and lies down to pleasant dreams. If a paleface comes within half a mile of his wigwam, the slumbering red man snuffs him afar, awakes, and goes out and shoots him full of arrows.

A young man at St. Paul, Minn., found, on going to a mind-reading entertainment, that his two rivals had taken seats on either side of his sweetheart. Being a sensible young man, he sent up their names to the mind reader as eligible subjects whereon to test his art, and when, amid the acclamations of the audience, his rivals mounted the penitential platform and proceeded to make themselves ridiculous, he triumphantly took his seat beside the lady.

Making a Corner in Gold Notes.

NEW YORK, November 14. — There is some apprehension that parties who distrust the stability of resumption will make especial efforts to get gold notes into their possession before the first of January, with a view to locking them up and so promoting speculations in gold. It is suggested that in order to prevent this, Secretary Sherman may exercise his option and cease issuing such notes at once.

Voorhees on the Trade Dollar.

CINCINNATI, November 14.—Voorhees, in an interview, said yesterday that one of his first acts on the reassembling of congress will be to introduce a bill making the trade dollar a legal tender, thus adding $20,000,000 to the circulation.

Outrageous Bulldosing in Louisiana

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The Tribune's New Orleans special says: "The results of the elections are not complimentary to Governor Nichols, who has often assured the country that the colored voters should receive ample protection. The parish of Concordia has a registered colored vote of 2600, against 275 for the whites. The affidavits show the whites to be organized into militia companies, and the blacks as completely terrorized. A showing is made of something like fifty blacks as murdered within the three weeks preceding the election. They are represented as found hanged, in some instances, two in a tree; others as hanging to gate posts, and in others again as found in fields through the agency of turkey buzzards feasting on their remains. The parish, withal, is shown to have actually gone Republican by better than 600 majority, but has been counted for the Democrats. The United States commissioner, too, seems to have been forced to leave. The showing for Tensas parish is still worse, the number of killed being claimed at not less than 100. No Republican organization is possible there, and no attempt was made as a consequence to put a Republican ticket in the field. The affidavits of actual facts are certainly specific, and in view of the late utterance of the President are likely to yet play their part.

Mormon Women Organizing — The Danites.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 15.—The movement of Gentile ladies against polygamy has caused great commotion among the Mormon priests who are using the old cry of persecution, and are urging the Mormon women to organize a movement to counteract the work of Gentiles. A meeting has been called by polygamous women at the theatre to-morrow afternoon to do the bidding of these priests.

Wednesday night at about 11:30 o'clock as John C. Young, one of the reporters of the Tribune, was leaving the office, he was waylaid by three men and knocked senseless. Upon recovering, he drew his revolver on one of the assassins, who cried out "Don't shoot; I'm innocent;" when Young let him go. The other two fled, pursued by several of the compositors, but escaped. Young is an apostate, and by reason of attacks on the Mormon church has become very obnoxious to the priesthood. This is the second attempt made upon his life. The excitement of this attempted assassination has created great excitement among the Gentiles.

Territorial Gleanings.

Oysters, venison, ducks and salmon trout abound at Olympia.

The mines in the eastern part of Idaho— the Bay Horse district— are reported as paying very well.

The bullion products of the Potosi and Blue Jack mines for the past two weeks aggregate nearly $30,000.

Frank Sweet, a young hoodlum, just from San Francisco attempted to outrage a little girl four years old, at Boise City, Idaho, a few days ago. He was promptly arrested.

There are twenty-four counties in Washington Territory, containing a population of 50,000, and yet the taxable property for 1878 is quoted at $18,930,964, or about $379 per head.

Dean Brothers, proprietors of the sawmill at the Sumish, Puget Sound, recently launched a vessel of 80 tons, all of their own construction. They built the sawmill, sawed the lumber and built the vessel.

A Congressional Muddle in Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Nov. 16. At the state election on the 5th instant, E. L. Martin, Democratic candidate for congress, was elected by a majority of 7000 over his ouly opponent, J. G, Jackson, Greenbacker. Since the election the point has been raised by Martin's opponents that he is inelligible, having been convicted of aiding and abbetting the rebellion, and there has been some talk of Jackson claiming the seat. On the other hand, it is asserted by mutual friends that a pardon was issued by President Johnson in 1866, and a letter has been published from C. P. Johnson, then United States marshal for Delaware, to Colonel Martin, informing him that he had received the warrant for his pardon. For some reasons yet unexplained the President's warrant cannot be found on file.

A Third Party in Congress.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.— The indications already point to an effort to consolidate the twenty or more representatives elect in the next congress as Independents or Greenbackers into a third party organization, to co-operate for the exercise of the balance of power between the regular Democrats and Republicans. The chances, however, are that most of the Greenbackers will act with the Democrats, on the ground of substantial accord in financial views and purposes. It is not improbable, however, that enough of these Independents may hold a separate caucus to dictate the selection of a Speaker and other officers of the house. Prominent Greenback leaders urge that their only hope of success lies in the political organization, especially as the recent elections show that the East repudiates them, and their available allegiance must be with the West.

There is a poem in the November Atlantic that starts off by saying, "There came three queens from heaven." The Hawkeye says: "Never do you believe it; we'll bet you a thousand dollars one of them was dealt to him and he pulled the other two out of his boot."

Chewed up by a Dog.

An Indiana man had a five-dollar national bank note chewed up by his dog. He sent two fragments of the note to the treasurer and wanted a good one in return. Treasurer Gilfillian refused to return a good note, there being nothing to show that the other fragments might not be sent in for another new bill. The Indiana man now sends the two fragments back again, pinned to an affidavit he had made before a notary public. The document which was received at the treasury reads as follows: Personally appeared before me this——day of—— who by me duly sworn, makes oath that the remainder of the bank bill hereunto attached was totally destroyed by his dog; that he detected him in the act and rescued these remnants, taking them from the dog's mouth, and that the remainder of this bill was chewed and swallowed by the aforesaid dog and thereby totally destroyed. Subscribed and sworn before me, etc. This being considered sufficient evidence of the dog's voracity and the Indiana man's veracity, the treasurer sent on a new note.

The campagin that has just closed has not been very prolific of mots, though there are a few that will probably be found for some time to come in the popular vocabulary. Mr. Kearney's "pooling issues" is one of these, and Mr. Gorham has enriched the language with two pregnant phrases; one when he declined to aid the Republicans of Maryland because he "hadn't anything to spend on old graveyards;" the other when he compared the Radical party in the South to a "snow ball in hell."— N. Y. World.

A. T. Stewart's Remains.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.— Several journals hint that Stewart's body has been found and that the ghouls will soon be captured. Nothing tangible is known to the public, however. Judge Hilton has received more than six hundred letters bearing on the case. Most of them are from clairvoyants and from those who have had dreams, and a large number offer to return the body for sums varying from $5000 to $1,000,000.

Three Prisoners Escape From Jail.

WINNEMUCCA, Nev., Nov. 14th.— Three prisoners—Benton, Harrison and Miller—broke jail shortly after dark, while the jailer was at supper. They got out by removing bricks from the same spot where Robert Johnson got through seventeen days ago. The delivery would have been complete, but the only remaining prisoner was unable to walk. Deputies have been sent in different directions to re-capture them.

The French Bank in the Supreme Court.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 14.—In the supreme court, to-day, the case of La Societe Francaise d'Epargnes et de Prevoyance Mutuelle vs. The district court of the fifteenth judicial district, in which application is made for a writ certiorari, and also for a writ of prohibition directed to said court, came up. Both applications were granted and the matter set for hearing on the 22d, at 10 A. M.

Storms in Italy.

ROME, Nov. 15.—There have been violent storms throughout Central Italy, and the damage done by them is almost unparalleled. Travel on all the railways between Rome and the north is interrupted. The rain has ceased here and the wind changed, but the Tiber continues to rise rapidly.

Railroad Disaster.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 14.—A train on the New Brunswick railroad ran off the track at Peel, six miles below Florenceville. The cars rolled down an enbankment, a passenger car took fire and three persons were killed and several injured. Some were badly burned.

Don't try to collect a debt by sending a postal card. It is worse than sending a boy. A man in Rochester tried it the other day, intimating on the card that the person addressed was a swindler, and the result was he had to pay $450 damages, the court so deciding.

A Democratic Candidate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The city clerk of Elizabeth, New Jersey, is in a quandary how to serve a notice of election as Democratic justice of the peace on William Keller, who died six months before he was nominated and elected.

Marie Litta's Debut.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Mlle Marie Litta's debut at McVicker's theatre this evening was a tremendous success. She was called before the curtain eight times after the second act, the audience cheering and shouting "Bravo!"

A Paying-Teller's Leap.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Frank M Taylor, paying teller of the New York City bank, this afternoon jumped from the second story of the "Health-Litt" establishment, in East Brooklin. His scull was fractured and he was otherwise injured.

The Emperor William continues to be feeble, notwithstanding all flattering reports to the contrary. He is irritable and he retires early. In his occasional strolls the Empress watches him constantly.

ARRESTS IN GOTHAM.

Recent Robberies Unraveling.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Henry Vreeland, alias Henry Burke, and Henry Wahlen were arraigned to-day in the police court on some charge not made public. Judge Morgan said to the reporters: "I have received important and valuable information enough to justify me in holding them, but beyond this I cannot say anything more, as it would not be doing justice to the police, and moreover, I could not conscientiously do it." Counsel for the prisoners said he could not tell whether they were charged with the robbery of Stewart's grave or the Manhattan savings bank, but the latter was the general impression. Superintendent of Police Walling said to a reporter to-day: "I don't know anything of any arrests whatever having been made in this Stewart case. If there is any arrest, I assure you on my honor I know nothing of it." The men who get up the sensational stories for the morning papers know absolutely nothing about the case.

Captain Byrnes of the police station where the men are confined refused to say whether they were arrested for stealing Stewart's body; but said, however, that there were no prisoners in his stationhouse for bank robbery.

Inspector Dilkes, at the police central office, stated that he could not say whether anything would grow out of it, but that there might.

Two woman came to the stationhouse with bundles for the prisoners, and then left. The women were shadowed at every step by the police officers, and it was evident that the most rigorous restraint had been placed upon them to prevent anything of what they knew being given to the reporters. However, it was learned that a Mrs. Wright lived on the top floor of No. 402 east Twelfth street, with whom the person named Baker has been living for some time past. Her husband is in jail for passing counterfeit money. Baker was not at home, but Mrs. Wright herself was encountered, and proved to be one of the women who visited the stationhouse. It now turns out by her admission that "Baker" was Whalen, one of the prisoners, and that Burke, the other prisoner was her brother. Whalen was arrested on Thursday for complicity in the Stewart robbery case. Burke was taken on Tuesday night at his mother's residence on 109 east Fortieth street. To-day the police ransacked Mrs. Wright's room and siezed all her papers and some belonging to her brother Burke. She said both men were speculators and "crooked." Mrs. Wright claimed to-night that Burke at least is innocent, and that she can clear him of all suspicion when she gives an account of his movements from before the Manhatan bank burglary up till after the Stewart sacrilege.

The New Brunswick Railroad Accident.

BANGOR, Maine, November 15.—A special from Carleton, New Brunswick, says: The New Brunswick railway cars ran off the track near Florenceville, last night. A passenger car containing twenty passengers took fire and was burned, and Mr. Parker, of Fort Fairfield, was killed. A child was burned and fifteen persons were injured. Parker is supposed to mean Hacker. Other dispatches state that Nathan Perry, of Presque Island, who was formerly proprietor of the Hatch house, in this city, was also killed and burned. A passenger gives the following account: The train was going at a moderate rate of speed when we reached Peel. Suddenly there was a shock. The train had jumped the track, and we found that the car was rolling down one of the worst embankments on the line. The car had almost reached the water's edge, when it was discovered that it had caught fire. The flames spread rapidly. Men took off their coats and tried to extinguish the fire, but without avail. The flames had complete possession, and leaped from seat to seat, rendering the passengers almost frantic with fear. The clothing of those aboard soon caught fire, and as the people rushed from one part of the car to another in burning garments, the scene was most terrible.

The little boy who was burned to death had managed to keep clear of fire long after the clothing of many of the other passengers had caught, but in his anxiety for the safety of some of his friends he rushed into the flames and perished.

Lying Diplomatically.

The correspondent on an English paper calls to the mind of Shere Ali, Ameer of Afghanistan, the solemn declaration which, on the occasion of the celebrated Durbar on 1869, he privately and emphatically made to the late Earl of Mayo, then governor-general of India, who, in token of existing friendship, had presented the Ameer with his own sword. "I accept the sword," said the Afghan ruler," as a token of peace with England, against which country it shall never be unsheathed. When I look upon this sword it shall mean to me, 'Peace with England.'

A Desperate Prisoner.

HOLLISTER, Cal., Nov. 16.—A. J. Farmby, against whom the grand jury found indictments for grand larceny and burglary, jumped from the top of his cell, head foremost, upon the iron grating upon the floor, evidently with the intention of committing suicide. He is now paralyzed, and is not expected to live through the night.

Mulvihill's Mistake.

John Mulvihill, the man who shot at Charles Gilchrist a few days since out at Brown's station, this morning requested an interview with a GAZETTE reporter. Mulvihill was visited in jail and requested the publication of a card which he had prepared. This was slightly personal in some respects and hence publication was refused according to custom. Mulvihill claims, however, that he has been misrepresented by the press and hence we give the gist of his statement below:

I had no contract as was stated. I worked for wages for Conly. E. Barney was the bona fide contractor. Barney would not pay Conly's bills because Conly's men ate too much. Gilchrist at first offered to pay all or a part, if it was coming. He got off on that proposition, thinking he had law on his side. If the public would look at this clause of the wood-chopper's lien they will see that these men only shield themselves behind technicalities. The workingman can tramp or eat hay.

Reporter—How about this report that you had a bottle of ladanum on you wher. you were taken?

Mulvihill—That is not so. I had a soda-bottle with some whisky in it. I bought it in Virginia and had drank about two-thirds of it.

Mulvihill was very anxious that we should publish the wood-choppers lien law, for the benefit of himself and others. We shall do so as soon as we can obtain a copy.

Wadsworth News.

Jake Lewis is up and he is a regular bonanza to the local gleamer. Jacob took the repotorial ear in his hand e rly this forenoon and said with much emphasis:

"I see by your paper that Tom Carey says Wadsworth is livelier'n Reno. That is a spurt of the Wadsworth imagination. I nail that item to the cross. Such is not the facts. Then growing more mild the high constable of Wadsworth town continued: "Lots of freight now from Wadsworth out to Belleville, Grantville, Ione and Way Down. That country is doing well. The Alexander mine will complete its mill soon and everybody expects great things when the mill starts up. That country only helps Wadsby increasing the amount of freight. The trout business is lively, and the fishermen are making money. Game is plentiful about the lake, and that's about all, and you'd better go way before I tell you a big lie."

The reporter fled without further questions.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following tiansfers of real estate have taken place since our last report

Alvaro Evans to A. H. Barnes, lot 13 and the northern half of lot 14, block 9 in Evans' north addition, consideration $200.

Isaiah Ashcraft and wife to John McConnaughy, Ashcraft ranch of 80 acres in Truckee meadows, for $6100.

Alvaro Evans to Ernest Nowottney. south half of lot 12, block 9, in Evans' north addition to the town of Reno, consideration $100.

Wm. Goeggel to C. A. Adam, west 48 feet of lot 3, block 4½ in Richardson's survey and Western addition.

C. A. Adam, to John H. Parker, same property as above, consideration $1100.

Samuel Brown, to Baily & McKissick, the ground occupied by the California fruit and meat shipping association, comprising 32 acres, for $351.

Haydon & Shoemaker, to Alexander Welch, lot 3, block I, in Haydon and Shoemaker's addition to Reno. Consideration $100.

M B. Dwelly, to Frank Backus, lot 8, block 2, in Reno for $180.

Legal Decisions About Newspapers.

Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post-office—whether directed to his name or another's, or whether he has subscribed or not—is responsible for the payment.

If a person orders his paper discontinued he must first pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.

The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from a post-office, or removing, and leaving them uncalled for, is primafacie evidence of intentional fraud.

Crystal Ice Company.

The Crystal Ice company at Verdi is going forward with a will, the necessary excavation and grading is about finished and the work of erecting the necessary buildings will soon be commenced. Under the able superintendency of R. P. Ferguson the work will not be slow in reaching its completion, and we predict that the stockholders will find their property ready for use at the expected time. The company promises to utilize its great natural facilities for the benefit of consumers.

Contract Awarded.

The proposed convent for the Sisters of St. Diminic is at last assured. The contract has been awarded to I. T. Bonham, the well known contractor and builder. The work of construction will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

Mystic Balm.

We call especial attention to Queen's formula for Mystic Balm. Mr. Queen discovered the virtues of the combination some years ago, gave it the name Mystic Balm, and now, after satisfying himself that it is the best preparation known for chapping of the skin, etc., hands it to us to publish, as its popularity has caused it to be imitated, besides he does not make any secret remedies:

Take of pure glycerine	2 ozs
Strained honey	6 drs
Tinct. benzine	2 drs
Ess. of jasmin	2 drs
Orange flower watar	1 oz

(Mix according to art.)

Board of Commissioners.

The board of county commissioners assembled this morning as a board of canvassers and proceeded to canvass the vote at the recent election. They are now counting the vote and about half through. They will not probably finish before evening.

No other business before the board.

C. S. Varian appears as attorney for A. K. Lamb and Thos. E. Haydon and W. L. Knox attorney for W. A. Walker, contestants for the office of sheriff before the board.

There has been no matter of disagreement in the count so far.

Blown Down.

Our readers will remember that about fair time the Mutual ice company advertised for bids to build an ice-house at Essex near Verdi. The contract was awarded and the work commenced. The building was well under way, the frame raised and everything was progressing towards a speedy completion of the company's works. During the severe wind storm of last night, however, the shell gave way and came down with a crash. The loss is estimated at about $4000.

Camp 20.

If you want to be well treated get up into the mountains where the pine trees rustle as well as the men. Where the air would brace up a consumptive and the appetite grows with the altitude. The people up that way will throw the doors wide open and bid you welcome in the old healthy and vigorous way. At least a party of Reno wayfarers were treated so last night by J. S Thompson, mine host Miller and lady at Camp 20.

Residence.

The Evans brothers are building the finest residence in Washoe county on their North Addition to the town. Alvaro Evans did not wrong himself when he purchased that tract, and we hope to see it covered with fine houses before two years more have passed. Col. L. Richardson is superintending the finishing work upon the Evans residence.

A Pair of Them

Our item yesterday in regard to the election of a "working" constable in Pyramid seems to have made other precincts jealous of the distinction thus awarded. We received to-day a written request that we would recognize Faun Allen of Washoe, who was also elected constable on the Workingmen's ticket. We concede cheerfully. There is now a pair. Next.

Pyramid.

Reports from Pyramid are still encouraging. John Hymers, the jolly boniface of that region, is in town, and says the camp is growing steadily. Mr. Hymers reports the starting up of two mines, the Infant and Pacific; also the location of many more. Pyramid is the real north bonanza after all.

The Next.

Referring to our item in regard to the Workingmen's success, the friends of Judge Dean requests us not to overlook Glendale. His Honor was elected upon the laboring ticket by a majority of two. His friends are naturally anxious that he should have the honor due him.

Ignorance.

Local—Well, Doc, what do you know?

Doc (gruffly)—Don't know a dam thing or never did.

That's what ails the country just now and its local pages.

A Jolly Father.

Pete Marker, of Washoe City, was made a father again the present week and the Marker family now contains one more son. We know now why Pete could not go to Denmark last spring.

Died.

James Maxwell of St Louis died at the county hospital Nov. 13. His death was caused by consumption and he died while on his way to Los Angeles hoping for relief in that climate.

Auction.

The personal effects of the late M. W. Eger, were sold at public auction to-day by C. W. Jones. Several useful articles were offered at the sale and a large crowd was in attendance.

Convalescent.

Mrs R. P. Chapin has been quite ill for several days and we are glad to report that she is now convalescent. Severe colds are abundant this fall.

Mulvihill's Examination.

John Mulvihill, the man who made a murderous assault on Charles Gilchrist out at Brown's station, some days since, was brought up in the police court this morning for a preliminary examination. Messrs. Gilchrist, Stiles and Stewart testified as to the circumstances of the case and Mulvihill was heard in his own behalf. His statement did not serve to change opinion as to his attitude in the case. He admitted to drawing the weapon, but said he did not intend to shoot he merely wanted to force Mr. Gilchrist to settle. Mr. Gilchrist in turn testified that Mulvihill was working for a sub-conctractor and one who fell behind. The company having paid the first contractor some months ago, of course he, as a representative of the company, could not recognize any claims on an account which was settled.

Mulvihill was held over to await the action of the grand jury.

Deservedly Popular.

Many of our readers will remember the visit of Alfred Short, Esq., of Northeast, Pennsylvannia, to our town in May, 1877. Mr. Short is the leading banker in a wealthy section of Pennsylvania, and a Democrat withal. During the present year his people thought they would like some Short laws passed for the common good, and nominated our friend for assemblyman, in a district which gave 2672 Republican majority in 1876. Mr. Short got a majority of 440, while every other man on the Repnblican ticket was elected. This certainly speaks well for Alfred Short, and the secret of his success is easily told. He treated everybody with courtesy and consideration, and although wealthy never attempts to encroach on the Almighty's rights. Mr. Short's western acquaintances claim the right to feel well over his victory.

The Recount.

According to the order made yesterday, granting A. K. Lamb, a recount of the vote for sheriff, the board of commissioners met to-day at 9 A. M., and commenced the count. The votes of Reno and Wadsworth had been canvassed at 2 P. M. When the GAZETTE reporter visited the court house, no point of disagreement between the friends of Messrs. Lamb and Walker had yet been reached. The count will be finished to-day, but probably too late for publication in this issue. No other business before the board.

Meadow Lake.

George D. Roberts and A. E. Head are going to give Meadow Lake another trial, and they are reasonably confident that they can successfully work the rebellious ore of this district. There has been a great deal of experimenting with the Meadow Lake ores, science apparently having exhausted itself in endeavoring to extract the gold known to be contained in the quartz found in the Meadow Lake mines. The rock carries a large per centage of arsenic as well as sulphur, and all previous efforts to dispose of these minerals has resulted in a loss of more precious metal. It is proposed to reduce the ore by a slow heat, thus precipitating the gold. The rock contains considerable iron, and the amalgamating it is thought, will have to be done by some other than the ordinary process. Roberts and Head will have a force of at least twenty men employed at Meadow Lake this winter in getting out quartz, and next spring will commence the work of reducing the ores. If these gentlemen are successful, and both are practical men of may years of mining experience, Meadow Lake will prove one of the richest mining districts on the coast. In one mine alone, the Excelsior, it is estimated that one million tons of gold-containing quartz above a depth of one hundred feet from the surface can be obtained. Tom Wheeler, an old Renoite, is also concerned in the work and predicts that great wealth is to flow from the long deserted mines which border Meadow Lake. Almost every old resident in Washoe or on the Comstock, has at some time been interested in Meadow Lake. We know of several in Reno, and they might look up the matter to their own advantage.

Charity.

A miner with one leg was consulting our citizens to-day and asking aid in consideration of his unfortunate condition. Dr. Hogan furnished the suppliant with a note, vouching for his deserving character. The man who has worked and can work no longer is certainly worthy of charity.

Miss Lavinia Goodell, the Wisconsin lawyer, is mentioned as a slender woman whose hair is gray, but not with years, and whose toilet is without eccentricity, as her manner is without boldness.

Crazed by Love.

This afternoon, passers near the bridge were attracted to the river bank by the sight of a live squaw floating down the Truckee, kicking lustily meanwhile to keep her head above water. Several valorous white men ran down to the bank, anxious to help the female in distress. They stopped however, upon reaching the river bank, and realizing that the water was wet. A buck Indian was finally induced to enter the water and after much hesitation he grasped the lady and dragged her to land. Here she was laid on a rock where the sun would strike her and change the water logged condition of her frame. Much sympathy was exeited by the poor creatures unfortunate condition and the GAZETTE reporter sought to unravel the mystery. He learned that the fair one's name was Hiawatha and she had for twenty-five years bestowed the wealth of her affections upon one Mishtonomah, vulgarly called Big Mouthed Jim, A depraved old stiff, called Nokomis, had on yesterday morning informed the love laden female that "Mish" was spooney on Washoe Mary, and the intelligence was more than the stricken one could bear. She sought an interview with "Mish" at the dam above town and represented to him with illustrations the strength of her love. He spurned her with a pick handle, and she, poor soul, having loved not too wisely but too excessively threw her carcass over the dam, not omitting the "despairing shriek" which is customary on these occasions. The body was retrieved as aforesaid by sitters on the bridge, and when it was safely deposited on the bank, half of the town assembled to hear the death-rattle. They heard instead, the expression of various citizens upon the case. Doc. Hogan said, with much feeling, that the lady used to cook for his crawfish camp on the head of Salt river, and he would like to catch the betrayer.

Tom Hymers noted the pulse, and, sighing as he looked at the crooked bridge said: "I have been a commissioner for some time and I pronounce this a case of tender passion. I ought to know." Judge Bowker thought it had been a case of love at first glimpse. Major Mann noticed the fact that the body had caromed on every prominent boulder in the stream, and cited the fact triumphantly in proof of the adage that "the course of true love never runs smooth."

Notwithstanding all these adverse opinions the fair Hiawatha will survive, and have strength to jilt the cruel Mishtonomah yet. In this connection we may state that job work remains at the old figure so far as the GAZETTE is concerned.

Closed Down.

Charles Gilchrist, superintendent of the immense woodyard at Huffaker's station, informs us that the flume has been shut down. There are now about 18,000 cords of wood in the yard awaiting shipment, and there are still 8000 cords in the hills which have not been flumed. The company will probably not let any more contracts before March 1st.

Cattle Season.

This is the season of the year when outside regions turn out their marketable cattle and start them towards Reno. About one thousand head have been quartered near Reno during the past two weeks, and still they come. James Sullivan will have 521 head at his ranch on Monday night. They come from the great north, a country whose wealth is as yet entirely unknown.

Be Careful.

Don't forget that the Wine House under its present management is a different place from the Wine House of former days. The present manager, Mr. Thyes, can speak English, and his assistants can mix any known drink. If you don't want to be pleased in the matter of drinks stay away from the Wine House.

Farm to Lease.

Hon J. P. Foulks of Verdi advertizes to-day his desire to lease a farm near Verdi. The land is about one mile from Verdi, 300 acres in extent, has plenty of water ready at hand and will compare for favorable locality and fertility with any land in this state. The ranch will be leased for one year or a term of years, and it will also be let in lots to suit. Apply to the proprietor immediatly, and remember that everything you can raise finds a ready market in Verdi. Here is a chance for someindu strious man.

Again.

A small stock has lately come into notice which promises to put a little money into the pockets of a number of our small stock buyers. We allude to the North Bonanza. We had it shoved at us for 50 cents, and now that it quotes at four and five dollars, we feel just a little of the old Sierra Nevada regret stealing over us. But why one stock went down and others went up is just a little puzzling to our good nature.

—To those who enjoy the waltz et al the announcement that Mr. Scott will give a grand Thanksgiving ball on the evening of that day of feasting and making merry.

POLYGAMOUS WIVES.

They Ask for a Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution Legalizing Their Pernitious Doctrine.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 16.—One of the most remarkable meetings ever held in the country took place this afternoon in this city. The remarkable spectacle of 1200 polygamous women parading their shame to the world is one not soon forgotten. There were old and young women, ugly, scrawny and cadaverous, of all nationalities. The ostensible leaders of the movement were the sixth wife of D. H. Wells, known by the name of Emmeline, and the tenth widow of Brigham Young, better known as Eliza R. Snow, but behind the theatre scenes, with his mouth to a hole in the curtain, stood George Q. Cannon, delegate to congress, prompting the women on the stage, who were but puppets in the hands of the august apostate of polygamy. Eliza R. Snow presided and stated the object of the meeting. She said if congress was composed of polygamists the members would be purer and better men, and would pass better laws. Our husbands, she said, were pure and virtuous, and the women of the United States, instead of persecuting polygamous women, should protect them.

RESOLUTIONS.

Several speeches of a similar tenor were made, when the following resolutions were introduced and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, We, the women of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints have been misjudged and misrepresented to the nation by those in the midst of our own sex in regard to our most sacred rights—the rights which pertain to the holy relations of wifehood and motherhood—we do hereby earnestly and emphatically declare our true sentiments, and invite a thorough and impartial investigation of our cause; therefore

Resolved, That we, the women of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and legal American citizens claim the right guaranteed by the constitution that congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting a free exercise thereof—a right which we seek to exercise not to the injury of others, but within the pale of peace and justice, life and liberty, and the pursuit of happiness according to the dictates of our consciences.

Resolved, That we protest against the enactment of any laws which deprive American citizens, whether male or female, of constitutional rights, and that we make a united effort to secure the unanimous voice of the women of our faith to plead the passage of a sixteenth amendment during the coming session of congress.

Resolved, That we do truly appreciate the efforts and labors of the noble ladies of the National Woman's Stffrage association, through opposed in their feelings to plural marriage, and without sympathy for our views, bravely defended the cause of woman's rights in Utah in the halls of congress, and take this public opportunity of tendering them an expression of sincere and heartfelt thanks.

Resolved, That we solemnly avow our belief in the doctrine of the patriarchal order of marriage a doctrine which was revealed to and practiced by God's people in past ages, and is now re-established on earth by divine command of Him who is the same yesterday, to day and forever—a doctrine which, if lived up to and carried out under direction of the precepts pertaining to it and of the higher principles of our nature, would conduce to the long life, strength and glory of the people practicing it. We therefore indorse it as one of the most important principles or our holy religion and claim the right of its practice.

Resolved, That the women of Utah memorialize congress setting forth their grievances, and that they take such other justifiable steps as may be necessary to defend themselves against the ruthless and violent assault now being made upon their sacred and constitutional rights.

The sixteenth amendment to the constitution, as constructed by these women, is to protect and legalize polygamy.

The New Church.

The services at the Episcopal church yesterday were accorded a new charm by reason of the imposing appearance of the inside finish of that church. Rev. Mr. Jenvey has done an excellent work, and is an energetic rector. Those who assembled at Trinity church to worship sabbath after sabbath and beheld those rugged walls, yesterday felt a real pleasure in admiring the neat and comfortable appearance of their almost new Bethel. Bishop Whitaker has a father's eye and heart for the church interests of the Rev. Mr. Jenvey's flock, was in his best spirits. His discourses, both morning and evening were most appropriate and were listened to by large congregations we hail the present success and future prospects of this growing parish.

Mutual Ice Company.

John Cashin, president of this company, informs us that the recent blowing down of the company's building, then in process of construction near Verdi, will not be allowed to interfere in any way with the manufacture of ice this winter. The force of men has been doubled and in twenty days the company will be ready to store ice.

TRUCKEE RAMPANT.

Chinatown Destroyed—Argument Failing, the Ax Takes its Place.

[Truckee Republican of to-day.]

It came like the gentle blast of the Washoe zephyr. The pent-up indignation of outraged Truckee swept like an incipient hurricane over the rebuilt Chinatown, and the rebuilt Chinatown was not. It occurred Saturday afternoon. The safety committee had done all that could be asked toward effecting a peaceable solution of the difficulty. They offered liberal pay for any rights the Celestials might have; they agreed to leave the question of value to arbitrators selected by the Chinese themselves. They coaxed, and argued, and warned and threatened, and all the while Chinatown was being rebuilt. Saturday the citizens of Truckee thought that had arrived. Every house built in opposition to the warning of the committee was taken down and the lumber was carefully piled in the streets. As little damage as possible was done to the material. After the houses had vanished, the citizens made a tour of the town and notified each of the washhouse tenants to remove from town in one week. White men who rent houses to Chinese were given one week in which to remove the Chinamen to quarters where their carelessness will not endanger the property-holders of Truckee. Should white men disregard this, they need not be surprised if Sunday morning finds their houses even as the houses of the heathens. Truckee is a tender mother to her wayward children, and should any of the notified children oppose her wishes, they may depend upon gentle usage. The citizens numbered between four and five hundred. The boasted Henry rifles of the Chinese did not appear. It would have been a poor place for Chinese rifles. Something like a million or two of property was represented by the citizens present Men unused to carpenter work handled axes, hammers and crowbars like experts. The graceful caving in of a roof, or of the side of the house, was the occasion of vigorous cheers from the sympathetic populace. Aside from the cheering and the somewhat disorderly crash of falling buildings, everything was done quietly, and without any riotous words. Few of the Chinamen came near the workers, and the few who came were unusually polite. Wah Lee found his house in the act of violently tumbling over, and struck a bargain with the citizens on the very scene of action. For two hundred and fifty dollars he agreed to remove his house, and let the safty-committee have his lot. Nowhere did the citizens meet with any violence or opposition from the Chinese. There has not been any effort to rebuild, and many Chinese are getting ready to leave. By Saturday none will be left in Truckee unless it be Fong Lee, who alone owns property. If others remain on Saturday, the citizens will probably visit them.

THE TIME FOR ACTION

THE MUSICAL CRASH

A Notice as is a Notice.

[Truckee Republican.]

The Reno GAZETTE has changed ownership. J. F. Alexander has sold to Messrs. Fulton and Edwards, who in future will have its entire control. The GAZETTE is a first-class paper, and its press rooms are unsurpassed for excellence; a magnificent power press, fine job presses, an excellent selection of type, and everything in porportion, compose the outfit. The GAZETTE has a wide circulation, and is a paper of much influence. Reno is a town of permanent, steady growth, and such a paper should be a fortune to its present proprietors. Mr. Fulton is land agent of the Central Pacific, and is a gentleman of considerable means and extensive business capacities. As a correspondent for the leading papers of the coast, he has displayed great talent. Some of the most graceful and charming bits of descriptive writing have emanated from his pen, and have been copied universally. Mr. Edwards was formerly proprietor of the Truckee Republican, and has been a newspaper man from our earliest recollection. He is eminently qualified for the prominent position he now assumes. Arthur McEwen, who is unquestionably one of the ablest local writers on the Pacific coast, will retain his position as local editor. His witticisms and burlesques are copied more extensively than those of any other writer west of the Mississippi. The new firm have a smooth sea before them, and unlimited prosperity is in store for the GAZETTE.

Funeral of John Corning.

The flags on the railroad buildings, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s offices, and the Depot hotel have been at half-mast today, in honor of the memory of John Corning, assistant general superintendent of the Central Pacific railroad, who died at Sierra Madra villa, San Gabriel, California, on Sunday morning. The funeral services took place at the Palace hotel, San Francisco, this afternoon. None but relatives and intimate friends of the family were invited to be present. To-morrow morning the remains will be forwarded to Syracuse, New York, at which place is situated the family tomb, in which they will be placed. Mrs. Corning will go East on the same train.

Death of John Corning.

After an illness of about three months, John Corning, assistant general supreintendent of the Central Pacific railroad, died on Sunday morning at Sierra Madre valley, San Gabriel, near Los Angeles, Cal., where he had gone in the hope of improving his health. At first Mr. Corning's sickness was a remittent fever, during which he was seized with congestive chills from which he never recovered. His wife was with him during his illness. The remains will be taken to San Francisco for interment. Mr. Corning was a native of New York, and was fifty-two years of age at the time of his death. For twenty years he was connected with railroads, first entering the service as conductor on the Michigan Central, running out of Chicago. Subsequently he became connected with the ticket department of the New York Central, of which his uncle, Erastus Corning, was president. He was soon promoted to assistant division superintendent, which he relinquished ten years ago and went to California. Immediately after his arrival in that state he was appointed assistant general superintendent of the Central Pacific railroad, and continued to fulfill the duties of that office until three months since, when sickness compelled nim to retire.

A Wildcat's Mission.

They are still hunting for Morris Ash's strawberry. The latest attempt is from New York. A couple of months ago an item appeared in the GAZETTE, describing the beauties and amiable peculiarities of Morris' wildcat. The New York Dispatch, which frequently improves its columns with articles from the GAZETTE, copied the wild-cat story, and a lady, the wife of Morris H. Johnson, 149 East Thirty-second street, New York, saw it, and having lost a brother named Morris Ash, wrote to the GAZETTE asking about our Morris and enclosing a letter to him. Morris isn't the brother. This item may chance to come under the prodigal eye of the real wanderer, so that it is not impossible that the wildcat may after all be the blessed means of uniting a family.

Take Him Back, Mollie.

The following letter was picked up on Second street, near the corner of Virginia street, this forenoon, and the man who found it was mean enough to give it to a GAZETTE reporter, who, with still greater meanness, unhesitatingly publishes:

"My own darling Mollie:

Why don't you rite to Me telling Me that you'l lett Me come and See you? O if you nu the ofal aggony ime living in you wuddint be so crool. God noa i love you with My hole hart and i no that i've been a Brute. Whiskey done it. Now if youl only say that youl be My own dear little wife again ile be dammed forever if i ever tuch licor agin. Do rite to Me and let Me com hom. God bles you,

From Your Own Husban

A Lost Journalist.

The Elko Post says: The typographical artists of Eureka astonished the people from their usual apathy by having a high old jamboree last Sunday evening. Probably, McEwen, of the Reno GAZETTE, will visit the base range after leaving Virginia, in which event he will make a strenuous effort to convert the bibulous typos to the cause of temperance. His present visit to this city has been productive of much good in this respect.—Virginia Stage.

In some cases it has, but the Stage man still staggers on to his hideous fate. He shall always, however, have an interest in the temperate prayers of the steadfast McEwen, whose capacity for virtue is only exceeded by his ability as a financier.

Suicide in Silver City.

[Virginia Chronicle, Monday.]

A Portuguesse from Washoe valley arrived in this city on Saturday with a load of hay, which he left somewhere on the divide and went down to visit a friend in Silver City. While sitting in the csbin of his friend last evening about 6 o'clock he put a pistol to his head and killed himself. They both had been drinking together. The friend gave the alarm, and soon after was arrested on suspicion of murder. He was being emamined to-day before Justice Tait when our informant left.

Our New Servants.

Certificates of election have been issued, by order of the county commissioners, to the newly elected county and township officers. The county commissioners will meet on Monday, December 2, to examine the official bonds of the new officers. It is desirable that all to whom certificates of election have been issued should qualify and file their bonds with the county clerk before that time.

A New York Opinion.

[N. Y. Times, Nov. 8th.]

The Reno (Nevada) GAZETTE, is a remarkable little sheet. Although published in the desert it seems to be able to fill its columns every day with bright original matter, and is as violently interested in national politics as if Reno was the capitol of the country. The Times frequently quotes good things from the GAZETTE.

SIERRA NEVADA.

How the Stock has been Bulled by a Reno Barber.

The GAZETTE reporters have been stopped every half hour to-day by anxious looking citizens and indignantly requested to read dispatches from Virginia City, from Nick Hammersmith, the barber at the Wine House shop, who is one of the best informed stock sharps on the coast. Nicholas went up to Virginia to see about Sierra Nevada and put it properly before the public.

Herman Thyes, of the Wine House, stopped a reporter and with an ocean of significance in his silence, handed out this dispatch:

VIRGINIA, Nov. 18th, 2 P. M.

Keep a stiff upper lip. Everything looking favorable.

[25c—col.] HAMMERSMITH.

Mort Grippen happened along and pulled out his:

VIRGINIA, 19th, 3 P. M.

Keep a stiff upper lip. I hold the key to the situation.

[60c—col.] HAMMERSMITH.

Jim Bradley, Esq., stalked up to the crowd and went through his vest pocket for the following:

VIRGINIA, Nov. 19th, 2 P. M.

Freeze on to your S. N. I'll visit the mine with Skae in the morning. I'm laying my pipes to make the market boom.

[70c—col.] NICK HAMMERSMITH.

Lovewell, the photographer, confided this:

VIRGINIA, Nov. 19th, 7 P. M.

Glory hallelujah! Skae wants me to use my influence with Flood & O'Brien to hold her up.

[70c—col.] NICK.

Martin Sanders come rushing up to the office with this:

VIRGINIA, Nov. 19th, 9 P. M.

Will sleep with Skae to-night. There's millions in it. Those may shave who like but Nick will shave no more!

[70c—col.] HAMMERSMITH.

It is generally conceded that Mr. Hammersmith is one of the most astute stock indicators on the coast and Reno is proud to be shaved by him.

Frmiliar Drunks.

Everybody in Reno has seen them: The defeated political drunk— Hollow hilarity and ostentatious good fellowship, humorously roaring indifference to result. Latter on he gloomily but triumphantly demands of everybody if he isn't a thoroughbred and if he can't take defeat like a man.

The man who had a quarrel with his wife — Feverish eagerness to get drunker and taking a vicious delight in wasting the money that is needed by his wife. A proneness to discourse ferociously on the duty of a man to maintain discipline at home is observable.

The man who hasn't had a quarrel with his wife—Frequent glances at the clock and jocular remarks about the old lady sitting up for him. Lapses from the hights of gayety into profound and thoughtful silence. When it becomes too late to think of going home without a settlement, he proceeds to drink himself into pot-valiancy.

The youth who has quarreled with his girl—Bitter cynicism and an irrepressible inclination to talk slightingly of women. He found out all about her years ago, and as for him, give him the gay and reckless life of a bachelor. Later he weeps and then desires to fight his friends, to every one of whom he confides how he has adored that girl and how much he has sacrificed for her and how she has heartlessly and ungratefully thrown off on him.

The old stand-by—Whiskey straight every time, for the pure love of it. Strict attention to the business of drinking, and snoring in his chair at midnight.

The Fall in Stocks.

A bundle of rags which had been subjected to some other perfume besides the gales from Araby, the blest, came rolling out of a Commercial Row dram depot last night. Something inside the bundle raised the rags to an upright position, and a complaining voice came from the inside thereof:

"Rich fellers think that they're the on'y sufferers from the Sary Nevayda an' Union an' North Bunanzy, but they're dead off. If that barkeeper had made his pile on them stocks today insted o' bein' bust out, d'ye think he'd a lambasted me fur standin' him up? No sir, he wouldn't, but very like would set 'em up agin out o' pure dood natur. Them big stock sharps in 'Frisco don't know the widespreadednees o' misery they cause. The deal in Sary Nevayda an' Union an' North Bunanzy is responsible fur this bloody nose an' black eye an' sore back an' loose tooth an' torn scalp an' lame leg. The lust for suddent wealth is ruinin' this here republic. Won't none o' you fellers that's starin' at me as if I was a glitterin' crosscut, do the decent thing?"

Hollow Fun.

One of the solaces of the cinched is to band together and approachihg a tramp newly arrived violently upbraid him for having caused the smash in in Sierra Nevada. No astonished disclaimers calm their fury and it is only when the ragged and terrified outcast is dragged into a saloon and given a drink that he discovers he is not be hanged.

A FRIGHTFUL DEATH.

Michael Hollan Falls Down the Emma Mine Shaft.

A frightful accident occurred this morning at the Emma mine. A miner named Michael Hollan was ascending the shaft in the bucket and when his head and shoulders had appeared above the surface and he was preparing to get out, the bucket slipped in some manner from its fastenings and sped with poor Hollan on its frightful fall of one hundred and fifty feet to the bottom of the shaft. The mangled remains of the unfortunate miner were brought to the surface and coroner Haslund sent for. He had not returned when the GAZETTE went to press, and it is probable that he has been holding an inquest at the mine. It is surmised that Hollan, in hooking on the bucket to the cable, did so carelessly, and that his movement in preparing to step off, threw off the hook from the cable. The coroner will furnish particulars on his return. The deceased was about twenty-three years of age, and a single man. He has a brother working in the Sutro tunnel.

Since the above was written a report reaches town that the coroner's jury have found a verdict of accidental death.]

A Murderous Old Well.

When the late Henry Menke did business on the corner now occupied by J. C. Hagerman's building, it will be remembered by old residents that he had a well, which is now covered by the sidewalk. There is a space of more than a foot between the planks and the mouth of the hole which is over twenty feet deep. There is no water in it, but for all that it is frequently fatal to dogs and cats which carelessly skylark under the pavement. The pitiful mewing of a cat yesterday attracted the attention of Johnson, the chief director of Hagerman's delivery wagon. His catanthrophy is as active as his beauty is striking and he at once tore up the sidewalk, prepared a gunnysack for the rescue of the cat, lowered an adventurous small boy down by a rope round his waist and rescued kitty. Johnson resolved to adopt the waif and cut off its tail to harmonize its appearance with that of his dog Watch. When puss recoveres from her long fast in the well—she had evidently been there for several days—and has licked the stump into convalescence she will be a credit to the humane Johnson.

A Mine Ventilator.

J. K. Fleming, a Renoite gave an exhibition of his contrivance for ventilating mines at J. L. McFarlin's establishment this afternoon. Mr. Fleming's invention is a simple one in principle. A revolving fan in a drum forces the pipe which tapers as it lengthens and is tapped by smaller and tapering pipes joined to the main one in the direction of the blast. Owing to the tapered form of the pipes the force increases with the distance from the fan, because of the pressure. The exhibition was watched with interest and made a favorable impression upon all present. Mr. Fleming will take his invention to Virginia.

A Strike in Golden Fleece.

At D. & B. Lachman's clothing store on Commercial Row, there is on exhibition a big lump of fine looking ore taken yesterday from the Golden Fleece tunnel, Peavine district, upon which work has been recently resumed. Mr. Lachman says that the miners have come upon a vein six feet wide of which the piece mentioned is a specimen. An assay will be obtained by this evening. It is estimated that the ore will range in value from $75 to $100 per ton. If this vein pans out as well, or even half as well as is expected, it will be a good thing to have a finger in Golden Fleece.

New Patents.

The Mining and Scientific Press patent department has received official notice of the following patents to Pacific coast inventors, for the week ending November 5th, 1878 Robert C. Brown, Portland, car axle boxes; William R. Rose, Glenville, pruning implements; James Stoddard, San Francisco, couplings for hydrant suctions; Samuel L. Loomis, San Jose, bullet machines; Dock E. W. Taylor, San Bernardino, rotary ore- stamps; George W. Cranston, San Francisco, hydraulic mining apparatus; William H. Mansfield, San Francisco, liquid freezers; Burroughs P. Brunner, San Francisco, rolls for reducing old iron railway-rails.

Some Bears Lost.

This morning a hunting party composed of George McClleland, I. D. Cross, Brewster Coffin and Charles Hill, left Reno by wagon, intending to go about 75 miles northward to meet the swarming population of bears in the region and kill or be killed as the case may be.

A Rattlesnake Killed.

Mr. Cross of Surprise valley yesterday about half a mile west of town, killed a rattlesnake sporting eight years worth of jinglers at the end of his interesting tail. Mr. Barnes, of the Golden Eagle hotel, has the rattles on exhibition.

Run Over and Killed.

A tramp while counting the railroad ties from Clark's to Wadsworth came upon the body of a man lying on the railroad track. The corpse was frightfully cut up, showing that the wheels of a train had passed over it. The man pulled the body off the track and on reaching Wadsworth informed the authorities. Coroner Haslund was telegraphed for. It is probable that the deceased was stealing a ride on the bumpers or brakebeam of a freight train and fell from his perch to his death. He was a middle aged man, short, thickset, with dark complexion and black beard. An inquest was to have been held at Wadsworth to-day.

Dancing Class.

To-night Professor Varney, of Virginia, will organize a gentlemen's class at Smith's Academy of Music. Mr. Varney is a competent musician and teacher. Those who lack confidence in their grace, or are ignorant of the latest Terpsichorean novelties, should join the class to-night at 8 o'clock. Gentlemen will be educated as to their heels at a very low rate, and we understand that when sufficient progress has been made to satisfy the dancers, ladies will be admitted.

Lovely Woman in a Savage State.

The Indian maiden has no respect for age. This afternoon a very old and half-blind buck was tottering along Commercial Row, helping his trembling steps with a staff. Two big, healthy hussies of squaws began tormenting the old beggar by tugging at his coat-tails and laughing in his blind face when he turned to see what the matter was. One of the women at last seized the old image's hat and flung it in the mud. Then some white men interfered and drove the indignant squaws away.

Mrs. Scott Siddons.

A GAZETTE reporter has telegraphed for the route of Mrs. Scott Siddons and fled in the opposite direction. For last evening's paper he wrote "the talented and beautiful lady." The improving printer sent it forth to a shocked public as "the talented and beatful lady." In connection with this the GAZETTE is sorry to state that Mrs. Scott Siddons cannot, because of her other engagements favor Reno with an entertainment, and has so telegraphed this office.

Suspension of the Record.

The Reno Daily Record suspended last evening. Mr. Hoole, the editor, announces that the paper has not paid expenses and that before resuming publication he will thoroughly canvass the county in order to ascertain whether there are enough Democrats in Washoe to support an organ of the party. The Democracy ought to have a paper and they could not find a more capable gentleman than Mr. Hoole to manage it.

Great Reduction in Prices

At Osburn & Shoemaker's drug store. One-dollar patent medicines for 87½ cents; seventy-five cent patent medicines for 62½ cents; Lubin's extracts for 87½ cents; Florida water for 50 cents; all other patent medicines and toilet preparations cheaper than can be bought elsewhere. Prescriptions carefully compounded from pure fresh drugs, and at greatly reduced rates.

Mrs. Scott Siddons.

Late last night a telegram from Carson reached the GAZETTE office asking that arrangements be made for Mrs. Scott Siddons to read at Reno to-night. The dispatch came too late to allow of arrangements being made for the hall and this morning Smith's Academy of Music was found to be engaged for to-night. It is to be hoped that the talented and beatful lady will be able to favor Reno to-morrow evening. If so, due notice will be given.

Cruel Silence.

President Hayes has sent on to Carson for a photograph of Deacon Parkinson. Rutherford has also written Nevada's only journalist anxiously asking him his opinion of his changed Southern policy. The Deacon is cruelly keeping Hayes in suspense, but has forwarded the photograph.

Kearney Coming.

Dennis Kearny will pass through Reno on his way to San Francisco on Monday night next. Of course the entire population will stay up and turn out to see the man who elected Butler and made the streets of Boston run with blood.

Had His Doubts.

Deacon Parkinson was lately asked by a church-member how the spirit of piety was thriving in Carson.

"Well, said the Deacon, "poorly, I couldn't conscientiously say their were more than two Christains in Carson, myself and Farmer Treadway, and I have my doubts about the farmer.

Important to Millionaires.

The bears are just knocking the stuffing out of stocks. Sierra Nevada $100 and Union $71! Farewell to all greatness. No, my dear, that trip to Europe is off and please don't talk of bonnets. Barkeep, put that down.

A Yankee Tiger Slayer.

[N. Y. Times.]

D'Harnancourt, the great professional tiger slayer, who is employed by Great Britain, through the government of Singapore, is a native of the United States, though of French extraction. His father having been taken prisoner with Napoleon in the Moscow campaign, was sent to Siberia, whence he escaped and came to this country. The son was born on the plains of the far west and early became a hunter, ranging in search of game over an immense territory. Desirous to see the world he went to sea; was wrecked off Formosa and badly treated by the natives of that island. An English captain induced him to visit Singapore, where he get his engagement, his price being £10 per head for tigers. D'Harnancourt is saving money to go to Algeria, where he will be under French authority, and where he can kill lions instead of tigers, as he covets the fame of a lion-slayer, and is desirous to rival Girard. The American Gaul is is said to be not only fearless but reckless, and has had many desperate encounters, from which good luck alone has delivered him. He is inclined to intemperance also, and it is not unlikely that some tiger will ere long hunt him with fatal success, and save him the trouble of a journey to Africa.

Elopement or Suicide?

[S. F. Post, Monday.]

Auguste Guido, who has a wife and children in Genoa, Italy, and Miss Clorinda Rottanzi, a daughter of Dr. Rottanzi, of No. 301 Third street, have disappeared in company, and there are conflicting opinions as to whether they have ran away or committed suicide. They took a boat on last Wednesday afternoon on Berry street, between Third and Fourth, and rowed off toward Oakland. The boat was found on the beech by the Oakland police on Thursday morning and on that day numerous letters were received by friends of Guido bidding them good bye and stating that he had sought a wattery grave. The number of these letters has excited suspicion, and led to the belief that they were intended to cover up an elopement. Parties answering their description were seen on the overland train. The lady was a handsome brunette of twenty-six. The couple are believed to have stopped at some way station between here and Sacramento to avoid pursuit. Guido was a partner of Thomas B. Shafter, at 220, California street. Whether his accounts are correct is not yet known, as he left them in confusion. The girl took nothing but the clothes she wore.

The President's Policy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A correspondent telegraphing from Washington says: President Hayes, appealed to for an authorized announcement regarding his position toward the South and his intentions with reference to revoking the law at the recent election, went to his desk, and taking a pamphlet copy of his last message to congress turned to the fourth page and said: "My position has not changed toward the South. It is the same as when I wrote my letter of acceptance, my inaugural address, and my message to congress a year ago. In my message I said" (and the President read as follows): "It should be our fixed and unalterable determination to protect by all available and proper means under the constitution and laws the lately emancipated race in the enjoyment of their rights and privileges. Whatever authority rests with me to that end I shall not hesitate to put forth." The President read the last sentence with emphasis.

Deaf, Dumb, Blind and Drunk.

[N. Y. Times.]

A deaf mute, a blind man and a drunken woman stood in a row before Justice Flammer in the Fifty-seventh street police court yesterday. They were all charged with being drunk and disorderly, but the deaf mute was discharged, while the other two were sent to the Island for four months, because the work of trying the deaf mute had to be carried on with paper and pencil. The justice, the interpreter, the sergeant, two clerks, and ever so many policemen all tried to make him hear that he was charged with intoxication, but he smiled at them sweetly and answered not.

Stewart's Body Reported Discovered!

NEW YORK, November 17.—The World circumstantially publishes the taking possession of Stewart's body in Weehawken cemetery last night, and the arrest of all the persons implicated in the robbery. The other journals have stories corroborative of the above, but there is still much mystery about the case, and nothing certain seems to be known outside of the police headquarters.

Turned Journalist.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The Inter Ocean's New York special says: A. Oakey Hall this morning assumed the position of city editor of the World. The Tribune says: This recalls Manton Marble's late remark, that "Oakey Hall may be a very smart man, but he can never be the editor of the World." Many newspaper men to-day were inclined to believe it a joke by Hall, but it is confirmed.

The Latest Monetary Scheme.

NEW YORK, November 18. — The Sun's Washington correspondent intimates that a proposition impends among certain congressmen to reduce the gold dollar so as to make it equal with silver.

DIED.

HOFMAN—In Reno, Nov. 38. 1818, Fredrick Hofman, son of William and Philippine Hofman, aged 9 months and 6 days, native of Reno.

MARRIED.

LAWTON—SIMMS—At the Lake House, Reno, by the Rev. C. McKelvey, Lee N. Lawton to Miss Alice M. Sims, both of Valley. [Maine papers please copy.]

JOTTINGS.

—Five cent pieces are coming into circulation.*

—There are twelve patients at the county hospital.

—Senator Jones and wife passed through for San Francisco last evening.

—"Why is that man so wildly chargin'?"
Inquires a wight of scanty education.
"To borrow mud to save his margin."
Replied ten men with grinning exultation.

—William McPherson, of Wadsworth, is among us, looking healthy and happy.

—Conversation of the future: "Stocks are down again." "That so? Who's hanged?"

—The legislators elect are pestered to death by applications for their influence to secure clerkships in the assembly.

—The telegraph office was besieged last evening by persons who wanted to hear all about the hanging of Skae and Mackey.

—R. P. Ferguson (Old Ice Hooks and Sich) was in Reno this morning displaying his fashionable figure on the boulevard.

—This is beautiful weather for driving, and the ladies are taking advantage of it. There is now little or no mud on the roads.

—There is only a week now left us in which to get our prayers in proper shape and to cultivate our appetites for thanksgiving day.

—It being now too cold to sit out on the porch and to swing on the gate the less satisfactory but still joyous season of dancing parties is about to waltz in.

—The Indian boys have found a new amusement—the building of mud locomotives. Some of the imitations show considerable cleverness in a rough way.

—Constable Barlow is as sound as any of us now. The only thing he has to show for being shot is a bit of sticking plaster on his chin about the size of a short bit.

—There will be a called meeting of Reno lodge No. 13 F. & A. M., for work in the first degree, on Saturday evening, November 23d. Brethren and visiting brethren are cordially invited to attend.

—There is a pleasing rumor that Deacon Parkinson is coming down to Reno to-morrow or next day, and much pleasant excitement prevails in social circles. The churches are being decorated with evergreens.

Gone to Virginia.

E. W. Hayden, who has superintended the job department of the GAZETTE office for over two years and a half, has left Reno and gone to Virginia city to remain there permanently. Mr. Hayden is a pleasant gentleman and a thorough printer. The GAZETTE wishes him prosperity in his new home.

A GENEROUS PARTNER.

He Forgives the Loss of a Winter's Maintenance.

"Have you seen my pardner?" asked an excited man on Virginia street this forenoon of every other person he met. The man was red with rage and the gleam of battle shot from his eye. Another man came along with his hat on the back of his head and his hair down on his forehead. His face was pale his eyes inflamed and his step unsteady. The first darted at him, seized his arm, shook him vindictively and bawled:

"So here ye are, eh?"

"Ullo Jim," said the captured one waking up and running his hand across his eyes.

"Don't Jim me, blast ye!" roared the other, "I know what ye've been at. Drinkin' an' gamblin' agin, I'll bet. I knowed you would, torment ye fur the dernedest fool in Nevaydey. How much did ye lose?"

"Cleaned out slick," admitted the culprit, hanging his head and spitting in confusion.

"Cleaned out!" screamed Jim, "Cleaned out! Now what in blazes am I a-going to do this winter? Gen'lemen," he said turning to the crowd, "I was sick in Arizona, when I took up with this feller for a pardner, I hadn't no money an' he stood by me and it made me sort o' grateful, fur I'm one o' the soft hearted kind. Well gen'lmen we hoofed it together all the way to Reno living together like brothers. He got work here an' I couldn't git none an' he's been the only thing between me an' starvation sence we came here. An' now what does he go an' do with his first month's wages? Drinks an' gambles 'em by G—! What am I goin' to do this winter, ye bloody villian?" he cried, seizing the wasteful wretch with both hands this time.

"Dern it, Jim, ole man," he whined, ready to cry, "Don't be too rough on a feller. I'm no 'count I 'low an' ye had ought to belt the stuffin' outen me, but don't you feel skeery. I kin rastle yer hash if I hev to go with nothin' under my own belt, ye can bet yer boots on that."

"Well if you gimme yer word on that," said James, softening considerably, "dern my hide if I don't stick by ye. Gimme yer hand, Bob. I don't go back on no old pard. Shake; wy, dammit, I know how it is with whiskey an' keerds. I've been one o' boys myself."

They shook hands, and Bob, overcome at the generosity of Jim, shed grateful tears as he led the way to a saloon.

A Poker Parallel.

"The first man that deals me a poor hand and lets me bet and gets away with the pot, had better look out," remarked a poker player last night in a Commercial Row saloon.

The other three men looked up in surprise.

"Because," explained the bold one, "I'll punch his head."

"We're all liable to get poor hands and be cinched in this game," said his vis-a-vis.

"I knew that, but I'm a man of family and earn my money hard and I can't afford to lose. I'm going in for the style of them Virginia fellows who want to hang Mackey and Skae."

Then a broad grin spread itself over the four faces and the barkeeper was soon four bits richer.

A Remarkable Instance.

The benefits of advertising in the GAZETTE have once more been strikingly shown. Last evening a gentleman brought to the office a large jet ear-ring which he had found and orderd an advertisement of the fact to be inserted in the 50-cent column of this widely circulated journal. One of the lady compositors began setting up the ad. this morning and suddenly gave a little squeak of delight. It was her ear-ring! Thus even before an advertisement (paid for in advance) appears in the GAZETTE it is almost sure to satisfy the object of the advertiser.

The Death of Hollan.

The testimony taken by the coroner yesterday in the case of Michael Hollan, who was killed by falling down the shaft of the Emma mine was in accordance with the facts given in the GAZETTE last evening. Carelessness on the poor fellow's own part in fastening the bucket to the cable was the cause of the frightful and fatal fall. The two brothers of the deceased took the remains to Virginia city this morning. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

An Intellectual Sport.

The noble game of "Duck on the rock" is superseding top and marbles among the boys. Duck on the rock consists in a cobble an a rock and one lad has to put it in place when it is knocked off by any of the players, who stand at a mark about 20 feet away and throw cobbles at the "duck." The trick is to grab up one's rock and get back to the mark for another shy at the duck without being touched by the unfortunate who is "it."

TRUCKEE'S TROUBLE.

The Present Situation of Affairs—War Threatened

[Special GAZETTE Correspondence.]

TRUCKEE, Cal., Nov. 21.—The Chinese excitement has suffered a relapse pending the action of the Mongols in relation to the notice given them by the committee to move across the river on or before Saturday next. They swear they will have their throats cut before they will go, and make loud displays of Henry rifles, revolvers, etc., which they promise to use in case of a forcible ejectment. The best informed citizens regard their threats as idle, and entertain no fears at all of any bloodshed. A committee of 12 of the best men of the town have charge of matters, and the whole white population is in accord with them. A lot of ground has been purchased, sufficient for the purpose, but so far only one Chinaman has gone upon it. He sold his ground on the old site for $500 to the committee and has built him a shanty on the new one, thus incurring the enmity of his tribe. Parties have built several houses next to his to rent, but John scorns them and sleeps three deep in the wash houses along the bank of the river. Those who began rebuilding on their lots were stopped last Saturday, their houses torn down, and the lumber neatly piled up. The only houses left are a brick owned by Fong Lee, which the rascally beggar modestly places at $40,000 when the committee proposes to buy, and four or five wash houses partly scattered along the river and partly on the hill back of town. They have secret advisers who are making them very troublesome, for whom Truckee would become very warm if the people knew them. McGlashan & Crowley refused a thousand dollars for their services as attorneys.

The Pacific Lumber Company is considering the scheme of extending their railroad to Hot Springs, on Lake Tahoe. It would then be 12 or 15 miles long and carry all the freight and passengers between the C. P. road and the lake.

CRAZY COMSTOCKERS.

Much Cooler To-day—No Danger of a Lynching Match.

By all accounts they must have had a particularly lively time in Virginia last night. Almost everybody on the Comstock hates a bear far more ardently than he does the devil, and his conception of heaven is, that it is one eternal booming market. The general smash of yesterday greatly excited and exasperated everybody and about 5 o'clock a big crowd had gathered on C street. Of course the names of Skae and Mackey, who were supposed to be at the bottom of the disaster, were execrated and when some turbulent fellows proposed that they should be hunted up and lynched, the idea was taken up readily and it looked for a time as if the necks of those millionaires were in danger and that a riot was upon the carpet. Efforts were at once made to quell this madness and Senator Jones succeeded in getting the ferocious crowd to listen to him. He announced that Skae would admit to the Sierra Nevada mine any five men they might name and they could thus satisfy themselves that the condition of the mine had not been misrepresented. This had a good effect, for the proposition was reasonable enough to wedge its way through the thickest skull. Judge Lynch took a back seat at once. The committee was appointed and reported as others had done before them, that the mine was all right.

To-day the reports from the Comstock are to the effect that everything is quiet, there being no excitement, no wild talk. A lot of miners, experts and other persons have been admitted to the mine by Skae, who under the circumstances is naturally inclined to be accommodating. Everybody who goes into the mine apparently comes out satisfied with what they have seen and as it is not probable that everybody will lie, the Comstocker to-day is doubtless ceasing to mourn his lost margin and devoting himself to thinking how he can raise the wind to invest again. The friends of Messrs. Mackey and Skae will, therefore, be pleased to learn that there is no immediate danger of their being scragged.

A Fellow of Nerve.

ROME, Nov. 50th.—Passante, the would-be assassin of King Hubert, manifested the most perfect unconcern and brutal assurance at his preliminary examination. When the magistrate expressed horror at his deed, prisoner said: "It seems to me you are getting too excited." On being asked if he had not observed that the people would have torn him to peices but for the police, he replied: "The people are fools; they always act that way." To a question whether he had intended to kill the King or merely wound him, he answered: "My intention was to finish him." He was neither an Internationalist nor Socialist, and said that he did not know the meaning of those words. He failed, however, to satisfactorily account for the Internationalist work found in his possession.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

Whalen and Burke, accused of the desecration of Stewart's grave, have been held to answer in New York in the sum of $5000.

Milton S. Latham arrived at New York from Europe on the 19th.

The official Republican majority for auditor in Minnesota is 19,034.

Several British regiments have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to advance from Quettah upon the Ameer's forces.

General Gordon has been elected to the United States senate from Georgia.

To enable the Howard association of New Orleans, to pay its debts and close its labors, $30,000 will be necessary.

Edwards Pierrepont, ex-United States minister to England, has resumed the practice of law in New York.

Judge Humphreys, of the District of Columbia, is publicly characterized by the district attorney, in his annual report, as "the drunken judge."

The term of office of Dr. Linderman, director of the U. S. mint, expires on December 8th, and hungry office seekers are already presenting their claims for the position.

The Canadian government wants Great Britain to aid the Canada Pacific railway with a grant of £6,000,000.

The exportation of silk ribbons from Switzerland to the United States has fallen off in the past five years from 20,000,000 francs to 5,000,000 francs.

A man claiming to be Tom Buder, who was lost on the wreck of the steamship Huron, has been proved to be an imposter, whose only object was a pension. He has left Washington surreptitiously.

A rich strike is reported from the Empire mine—better known as Tom Fowler's mine—in Mineral King district, Tulare county.

The police of Stockton, on the 18th, captured, in an opium den, two white men, two white women and three Chinamen.

The Yellow Fever Commission.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The report of the yellow fever commission, composed of Drs. Bemis, Cochran and Howard, and Col. T. S. Hardee, sanitary engineer, made to the health association convention in session at Richmond, gives results of investigations in all the fever-stricken cities of the South. They believe the disease was imported to New Orleans, and show by maps that the fever cases invariably form in groups, unlike malarial fever, which shows a tendency to occur in disconnected cases:

They conclude: First—Not a solitary instance was found of a case of yellow fever which we could justifiably consider as indigenous to its locality. Second—In most of the various towns visited, which were points of epidemic prevalence, the testimony showing importation was direct and convincing in its character. Third—The transmission of yellow fever between points separated by any considerable distance appeared to be wholly due to human intercourse. In certain instances the poison was carried in the clothes or about the person of people going from the infected districts. In other instances it was conveyed in cotton bagging, or other goods of the same description. Fourth—The weight of testimony is very pronounced against the further use of disinfectants. Physicians in the infected towns almost without exception state that they are useless agents to arrest the spread of yellow fever. Fifth—Personal prophyloxis by means of drugs or other thereapeutic means, has proved a constant failure. A respectable number of physicians think the use of small doses of quinine of some use in prevention. Sixth—Quarantine, established with such a degree of vigor that absolute non-intercourse is the result, has effectually and without exception, protected subjects from the attacks of yellow fever.

The Nez Perces.

[S. F. Bulletin, Wednesday.]

J. B. Monteath, agent of the Nez Perces Indian reservation, arrived in this city by the steamer Oregon yesterday. He has in his charge twelve prisoners, who were captured on returning to their reservation after flying with White Bird to Sitting Bull's camp. They were placed in confinement at Alcatraz, where they will remain till the arrival of six more coming on the Idaho, due here on Saturday or Sunday, when all will be conveyed to Port Shaw reservation, where Joseph is. Mr. Monteath is also accompanied by three Indian teachers, named Mark Williams, Archie Sawyer and James Reubens. They are employed by the government to instruct their brethren in reading, writing and agriculture. The teachers are fine athletic men, brought up among Chief Joseph's tribe. They have all received fair educations in the ordinary English branches.

A Grand Career.

[Burlington Hawkeye.]

Three years ago a young man graduated from the West Point military academy and came West. His soul was filled with grand, lofty aspirations, and he sought, in the untrodden fields of activity in the mighty West, room for his soaring genius to plume itself for fight. He braced his feet as he prepared to shake the globe. To-day he is the traveling agent for a Cincindati corset factory.

BOULD DINNIS

Starts for California With Blasphemy and Brag.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Herald's Boston special says: Kearney left for San Francisco at 6 o'clock this evening, accompanied by his wife, brother and two children. Two causes led to his departure—the opinions expressed by Democrats who follow Butler against his meddling in the municipal fight, and the sudden appearance of dissension in the Workingmen's party in San Francisco. He recently received a long letter from San Francisco, announcing that certain men in the labor movement have been taking advantage of his absence to undermine his power, and that there was danger of a serious revolt. He was advised to come home at once, and so he decided to give up the fight in Boston and save his prestige and power in California, if possible. He seemed dejected, nervous and tired. On being interviewed he declined to talk of Butler, merely saying that he was the only available candidate the Workingmen could find. He said he was coming back after the next election in California. "By the way," he said, "you may put it down that the next governor of California will be a farmer." He intimated that he could have an office himself if he chose to accept it, but he wanted to keep out of politics, so that if he found a man going back on the people he could cut him down. "When I come back," he said, "I will settle up some old scores. I will drive the slimy thieves who opposed me into the northeast corner of hell, where I will pin them and make them wiggle—wiggle until the Lord God Almighty sets up his throne on earth and calls upon every d—d cuss of them to pass in his checks. They have opposed me because, like Jesus Christ, I went among the people doing good and preaching the doctrine of salvation. I will have a reception in California bigger than Columbia did when he landed." He then said: I'll tell you how Butler was defeated. He was beaten by the men who had charge of his affairs. Every whiskey guzzler and ward bummer in the state was working for him, and the decent, hard working men were disgusted."

A Horrible Scandal.

SAN BUENAVENTURA, Cal., Nov. 20.—A mixed and somewhat nasty case is now occupying the attention of the committing magistrate of Santa Paula, in this county. It appears that a few months ago A. H. Sheppard, the postmaster, married Miss Blumberg, a niece of Robert Van Curen, and soon after the latter married Sheppard's sister. In three or four months Mrs. Sheppard gave birth to a child, which is alleged to be the offspring of her uncle, Vancuren. The latter asserts the girl's father, A. W. Blumberg, to be the seducer of his own daughter. The net result is that Sheppard has brought suit for divorce, and Blumberg has had Vancuren arrested for incest. The examination was commenced this morning, and will probably occupy two or three days.

Heavy Suit Against the Tybo Consolidated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Henry Schwartz has brought suit against Daniel Meyer et al in the fourth district court, for an accounting for all moneys, gains and profits of the Tybo consolidated mining company, to have a certain contract for coal decreed fraudulent and void, and to recover damages in the sum of $1,000,000. It is also prayed that the defendants, who are trustees of the corporation, be removed from office and a reciever appointed to take charge of the property.

British India.

BOMBAY, Nov. 20.—The Gazette announces that several regiments have been warned to hold themselves in readiness to advance from Quettah immediately, and that all is ready. Merchants from central Asia say that no indications of a movement of Russians towards Afghanistan are observable.

Wages Trouble in England.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The cleveland mine owers have ordered ten per cent. reduction of wages. The proprietors of the Oldham cotton mills have refused to postpone for three months the ten per cent. reduction, and the Clyde ship builders threaten to lockout unless the men agree to work for less wages.

Russia's Reluctance.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—Russia is making great efforts to obtain an extension of the term of occupation of Turkey, but all the powers oppose it. Prince Orloff's visit to Welsbaden is thought to be connected with the efforts of Russia to enlist the aid of Germany in favor of the prolongation of Russian occupation.

Shot Dead in a Court-House.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 19.—Warren Tate shot and killed William Love in the court-house late this afternoon. Love had been a witness in a case wherein Tate is plaintiff. Love was a prominent real estate dealer and Tate is of a fine family, but is best known as the husband of a former notorious courtezan, now of Chicago.

STATE NEWS.

The White Pine News has suspended publication.

Steps are being taken for the organization of a military company in Winnemucca.

C. C. Goodwin, of the Virginia Enterprise, has gone to Oregon for a few weeks' recreation.

Hay is being brought in pretty freely to Austin from Reese River valley, and is selling at $30 per ton.

Two of the prisoners who escaped from the Winnemucca jail on Tuesday evening have been recaptured at the Humboldt house.

Thomas Flynn, the convict who killed Bethards, has been since the murder confined in a dark underground dungeon in the state prison at Carson.

The state in the vicinity of Winnemucca, Tuscarora and Elko, is said to be flooded with counterfeit silver coin, the production of a gang of counterfeiters in Idaho.

The Democrats will have but five members in the state assembly and seven in the senate, of whom six are holdovers. They elected but one senator at the recent election—Shepherd of Elko.

The vestibule of the Carson mint is crowded with standard silver dollars, packed in boxes, awaiting shipment to several United States sub-treasury offices on the Atlantic seaboard.

On Sunday, the 10th instant, another cave occurred in the Meadow Valley mine, whereby a miner named Collins was confined under a pile of dirt for two hours before he was finally rescued.

An average of 500 cords of wood is consumed each month at the Silver Hill mine. The wood costs $9 per cord. The cost of the wood consumed at that mine is therefore not less than $54,000 per year.

Dying for His Family's Good.

NEW YORK, November 20.—The life insurance companies are considerably excited by the death at Binghampton on Saturday last of Colonel Walton Dwight, who, within three months previous, had succeeded in getting policies in favor of his wife and son, amounting to $253,605, and paid about $2200 for premiums since he was financially embarrassed, and it is thought could have raised only with the greatest difficulty the $3000 to meet the premiums due on the next quarter. It is the theory in some insurance offices that Dwight intended to be a dead man before another premium was due.

Terrible Suffering in Sheffield.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Appalling distress and destitution exists among the mechanics and laborers of Sheffield in consequence of business depression. Hundreds exist in a tenement without clothing or furniture, which has been sold or pawned to procure food. They are without fuel and depend on the charity of neighbors. The mayor has called a public meeting to devise measures of relief.

A Saloon Keeper Killed.

OAKDALE, Cal., Nov. 20.—E. L. Davis, a saloon keeper, was shot in the right eye by James Scroggins in Davis' saloon about 1 o'clock this morning. There are no hopes of his recovery.

DOWN WITH THE GRABBERS

NO MORE SWINDLING!
NO MORE CHEATING!
NO MORE EXTORTION!

It now lies within the reach of every hard-working Farmer, Miner and Mechanic to obtain his necessities at their realvalue, and quit enriching the grabbing and unscrupulous Store-keepers who do not hesitate to take the last penny from a hard-working man, woman or child.

THE MECHANICS' STORE

Whose reputation for straightforwardness and square dealing is known far and wide, and needs no further comment, employs an army of clerks for the sole purpose of filling COUNTRY ORDERS, and thousands living outside of Sacramento avail themselves of this chance, do all their buying by sending orders direct to the Mechanics' Store, and thereby avoid paying enormous prices to the merciless grabbers who infest every city and town on the coast.

The method upon which the Mechanics' Store is conducted is universally known; yet, for the benefit of some who may not know, we will here repeat it. It is as follows: Every article in the house is bought at the lowest market rates, to which only a small profit is added. The price once fixed is marked in plain figures on every article, and in never deviated from, thus giving the poor judge of goods a chance to suyply his wants as low as the most expert buyer.

Nothing is Misrepresented! No Faults are Concealed!

All are treated alike—a person living 500 miles away sending an order obtains the goods at precisely the same prices as customers who are present to select for themselves. All goods are cheerfully exchanged, and in cases where nothing suitable can be found the money will be willingly refunded.

OUR FALL STOCK

Is rapidly coming in, and will shortly be complete in all departments, which consists of Men's and Boys' Clothing, Dry and Dress Goods, Fancy Goods, Notions, Men's Furnishing Goods, Hats and Caps, Millinery, Boots and Shoes, Trunks, and Valises, Chromos, Pictures and Frames.

Strictly One Price. Prices Marked on Goods in Plain Figures.

WEBER PIANOS ARE THE BEST

Complete Triumph

AT THE CENTENNIAL,

As shown by the figures of the judges, which are the fundamental basis of all awards.

"WEBER."

Thus the Weber Piano Received

95 out of a Possible 96!

While the highest number reached by any other of the forty manufacturers who competed, was only

91 out of a Possible 96;

And a juror adds: "Weber's Pianos were UNQUESTIONABLY the BEST PIANOS on exhibition. Weber's Grand Piano was the MOST WONDERFUL PIANO I EVER TOUCHED OR HEARD," and Weber Pianos must be recognized beyond controversy as the "Standard for Excellence in Every Particular,"

UNDOUBTEDLY SUPERIOR to those of the American Manufacturers claiming the first prize at London, Paris and Vienna.

FELLOW'S

COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.

THIS DISCOVERY

Is the result of a series of Scientific Experiments based upon the theory that "for the successful cure of Wasting Diseases, the nervous system must be made vigorous and healthy."

One of the first symptoms of disease affecting either the Liver, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, or Genital Organs, is a loss of nervous power, This is followed by muscular relaxation, weakness, and emaciation of all the organs which depend upon them for health or involuntary muscular action, the weaker suffering first.

The Inventor, acting upon this idea, that the muscles and nerves depend upon each other for efficient strength and action, and that they must be treated directly in order to speedily and permanently cure diseases of the organs which they control, became convinced, after months of experiment, that no other preparation produced such potent and direct effects upon the nervous system as his

and except in cases of actual organic loss, that it would restore patients suffering from those maladies.

Amongst the diseases overcome by the use of this remedy are the following:—

Chronic Constipation,
Chronic Dyspepsia,
Asthma,
Chronic Bronchitis,
Consumption,
Chronic Diarrhœa,
Chronic Laryngitis,
Melancholy,
Nervous Debility.

Debility, resulting from Typhoid and other low fevers, Diphtheritic Prostration, Hysteria, Hypochondria, Nervous Excitability, Marasmus or Wasting of the Muscles, Aphonia or Loss of Voice, Sluggishness of the Liver, Interrupted and Feeble Action of the Heart, SUFFOCATING FEELINGS caused by mucous obstruction of the Lungs and Air Passages leading thereto, and Debility from various causes.

Indigestiveness and habitual Costiveness almost always arise from weakness of the muscles and nerves of the stomach and bowels. In such cases, Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites has proved itself of the greatest service by inducing healthy peristaltic action of the intestines. The evacuations soon become copious and healthy, without producing the effect of purgative medicine.

Weakness of the JOINTS and MUSCLES, IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD, and INWARD WASTINGS may be cured by attention to the regular described doses, and by due regard to the habits of life.

FELLOWS'

Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites

The power of arresting diseases displayed by this preparation is honorably acknowledged by the medical faculty in every section where it has been introduced, and the large sale is the best guarantee of the estimation in which it is held by the public

This syrup will cure PULMONARY CONSUMPTION in the first and second stages, will give great relief and prolong life in the third. It will cure ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, LARYNGITIS and COUGHS. It will cure all diseases originating from want of MUSCULAR ACTION and NERVOUS FORCE.
